Nixon's Journey Approved by Area 'Man in Street'

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON

President Nixon has apparently scored points here in Ulster County during his "journey for peace" to Mainland China.

Nixon's meeting with Communist Chinese leaders Monday was greeted with almost unanimous approval by area residents. Guarded optimism and hope were the most evident feelings.

Men and women were polled shortly after Nixon stepped off the "Spirit of St. Louis" and into "frank" policy discussions with Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai. Few said they expected the talks to harvest immediate results, but a vast majority said they expected less tension between East and West now that communications with China have been restored.

"All in all I'm in favor of Nixon's trip," said RALPH STITT of Lake Katrine. "It should help towards a generation of peace, and it certainly can't hurt." Stitt added, "I'm sure there are political motives in everything Nixon does, but I think the China trip is maybe only five per cent political."

HENRY GILLIS of Kingston doesn't think the China visit is a good idea. "What can it possibly accomplish? I don't like those Chinese."

MRS. CLARENCE MYERS of Saugerties expects Nixon to win friends in China. "He has a nice way with him, and I think he'll win friends among these people. I think his trip is a good idea, and I think it might help achieve a generation of peace."

WILLIAM VOLLMER of Ashokan has mixed feelings about the Nixon visit. "I think it's generally a good idea, but I'm kind of worried. He got a very cold reception at the airport, and it may be that we're sticking out our necks too far."

Vollmer added, "I'm certainly all for it, if they give us a good hand. It may be a step towards peace. But the situation with Taiwan is a bad thing."

"They seem to have treated him right over there," said MRS. CHARLES McDONOUGH of Rosendale. "I don't think the trip is a bad idea. It's hard to say. He may accomplish something."

A Saugerties woman who asked that she not be identified said Nixon's trip won't do any good. It's an election gimmick. Those Communists won't give in at all. He won't accomplish anything."

Another Saugerties woman said she expects Nixon's trip to bear fruit, "but I don't know that we'll be able to see it right away."

MRS. WILLIAM SIMPSON of Esopus said she's "not sure" that Nixon will accomplish anything while in China. "Sometimes I think it will help, but then sometimes I'm not so sure."

ELWYN DENNIS of Accord is not convinced the China trip will prove worthwhile either. "You never know, it just might be justified. Who's to say?"

"It will help," according to MRS. JAMES BOYCE of Kingston. "Yes, I think it will accomplish something, and I hope it leads to peace."

Director Cites Case Increases

Probation Requests Made

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Saddled with a 100 per cent increase in Probation Department investigations in 1971, a 30 per cent increase in the number of adults on probation, and a greater demand for Family Court counseling, Charles E. Schultz, Ulster County Director of Probation, has asked the Ulster County Legislature to consider the following:

- A second Family Court in Ulster County.
- Area Probation offices in New Paltz and Ellenville.
- A new accounting system within the Support Bureau.

In a report to the County Board, Schultz said that "because it was just impossible to meet the demand for adult investigations, many cases languished in the Ulster County Jail awaiting sentence and tied up County Court as well in 1971. "While statistics show that a valiant effort was made on the part of the probation staff to keep up with the demand of new assignments," he explained, "they do not reflect the pressures and frustrations of not being able to meet sentencing dates."

Schultz said that because the number of investigations requested by the Criminal Courts increased by more than 100 per cent in 1971, "it is realistic to imagine an equally as large increase in 1972."

He said this was due to four-month old Criminal Procedures Law which will be in effect for a full year in 1972 and which required pre-sentence investigations prior to the imposition of certain sentences. This will mandate proportional increase in the volume of work presently being done for Justice Courts. Schultz said that in order to give priority in conducting the pre-sentence investigations, it was necessary to take a proportionate amount of time away from supervising individuals on probation.

Special

"The true worth of probation cannot be assessed if this is allowed to continue. It can only be a hoax on the community if we are not giving ample service to those placed in our charge with the purpose of rehabilitation," he declared.

With regard to counseling a director explained that starting in November of 1971 in an effort to be as efficient as possible during the critical period when pre-sentence investigations were the greatest demand made upon the department, intake service was provided only three days of the week with emergencies handled immediately. Schultz said that without this service the 1,882 cases open for counseling may well have been referred to Family Court.

"Therefore," he said, "it is reasonable to assume that with this additional case load we will need a second Family Court in Ulster County. The importance of this position cannot be over emphasized."

With regard to the Support Bureau, Schultz told of $864,797 collected from 1,193 cases in 1971 up from 1970, saying that as always there is a continual increase of money collected in this area.

It is his recommendation, he said, that a new accounting system be established within the Support Bureau of the Probation Department.

Hint From Chou Media May Stay

PEKING (UPI)—In President Nixon's presence, a smiling Premier Chou En-lai dropped an intriguing but vague hint today that American newsmen—who were sent packing in 1949—may be welcome to remain in China after Nixon departs.

Chou dropped the ambiguous invitation at the start of his third working session with Nixon, this one held in the President's luxurious lakeside guest house that has been dubbed "the Peking White House." It was snowing when Chou arrived, the first foul weather since Nixon came Monday.

Both parties appeared in high spirits and satisfied with the progress of their dialogue. The Americans took it as a good omen that Nixon for a second day received extraordinary coverage in the government-controlled press.

Four photographs of the American leader and his delegation were published in today's edition of the "People's Daily," along with reporting which was straightforward and factual without propaganda or embroidery.

Bantering with newsmen as he posed for pictures with Nixon, Chou dropped his vague hint.

"If the press wants to see any more places," he said, "they can apply to the Ministry of Information." An official of the ministry said applications were "being considered."

Chou left unclear whether he meant that reporters could see "more places" for the five days remaining in Nixon's visit, or whether they could extend their stay.

A few American newsmen have been admitted on a temporary basis in the aftermath of the thaw which developed when a U.S. ping pong team toured China, helping open the mainland to Nixon.

One of the photographs which appeared in today's paper showed Nixon and Chiang Ching, among others. She is the wife of party Chairman Mao Tse-tung. The picture was taken at the Peking Opera

Tuesday night. Chou drove to Nixon's buff-colored lodging precisely at the appointed hour—2 p.m. Nixon met him at the door with a smile and a handshake for talks which the President hopes will lead to an all-Asian conference to find a political settlement to the wars of Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam.

After two hours, the talks recessed briefly for tea, then resumed.

Nixon asked Chou if the snow—the first foul weather since his arrival Monday—would wipe out a visit Thursday to the Great Wall of China, built centuries ago in an unsuccessful effort to keep out foreign invaders.

"The weather is supposed to turn fine tonight," Chou replied. "That is the forecast."

Both leaders appeared to be in high spirits. Neither the Chinese nor the American delegation would give the slightest clue about what agreements had been reached and what issues were simply set aside as being beyond resolution in this eight-day goodwill tour.

The American party was cheered by the show of warmth it was now receiving after the formal and somewhat frosty reception Nixon received Monday morning.

Acupuncture And Pat Nixon

PEKING (UPI)—When Pat Nixon walked into a farm commune clinic today, she saw an elderly Chinese woman undergoing the ancient medical treatment of acupuncture with nine silver and gold needles stuck in her shoulder, her arm and her leg.

The sight of the gaunt 68-year-old farm woman receiving the ministrations apparently embarrassed the First Lady, and she turned away.

"I think it is rude to watch," Mrs. Nixon said.

But she was encouraged by her hosts on her first tour of a Chinese agriculture commune to stay, and the patient appeared to enjoy the attention, nodding and smiling and saying "hello" in Chinese. The woman answered "yes" when asked if she had heard of Mrs. Nixon.

Mrs. Nixon strolled through a light snow down dirt roads on a 90-minute tour of the 6,000-acre Evergreen Peoples Commune near Peking. Her hosts had difficulty keeping up with her brisk pace.

"I love to walk in the snow," she said.

She heard rosy-cheeked, pig-tailed school children sing the praises of Chairman Mao Tse-tung and was told the success of the 41,000 commune members in growing vegetables, wheat and rice was due to the guidance of the "revolutionary line" of Mao. She nodded with interest when told that 100 kinds of vegetables were grown on the farmland.

Mrs. Nixon, recalling her own farm background said that in her youth she won first prize raising pigs on a farm in California.

She also saw a hothouse and a general store, but the acupuncture demonstration was a highlight of the tour.

Interpreters said the gaunt, white-haired patient was receiving treatment to ease a paralysis.

The First Lady obviously enjoyed her visit to a classroom where healthy-looking second graders, wearing gaily-colored ribbons in their pigtails and dressed in bright colors, applauded her and demonstrated their knowledge of multiplication.

"You can tell them hello for all the children in America," Mrs. Nixon responded through an interpreter.

Mrs. Nixon then was taken to a music class where children performed a dance and sang songs titled, "I love Chairman Mao, our great leader," "Chairman Mao is leading us forward," and "I am a little member of the commune."

Larger-than-life portraits of Mao decorated each room. As Mrs. Nixon makes her rounds in Peking, she is passing out invitations to her new Chinese friends.

Bullet Punctured Rosendale Chase

By JON POWERS

ROSENDALE

A 22-year-old New Paltz man allegedly ran a stop sign in Rosendale Tuesday night, and then led two constables on a wild and wooly car chase that ended when the fugitive was shot once by police.

After all the excitement had subsided, Chester Wilson had a bullet hole in his shoulder; Chief Walter Byer had a band-aid on his finger; and police had the arduous task of preparing a long list of criminal charges against the fugitive.

It all started at 11:05 p. m. Tuesday when Byer and patrolman William Stoedter, on routine patrol in the Village of Rosendale, spotted a car that reportedly failed to stop at the intersection of Routes 32 and 213.

With lights flashing and siren screaming, the two officers took chase after the 1961 gray Buick sedan. The car sped south on Route 32 with police in close pursuit.

Byer said they pulled along side the car "three or four times" during the four mile chase, but each time the fleeing driver stomped on the accelerator and widened the gap.

Byer also said the speeding car zig-zagged from one side of the road to the other during the chase, forcing several other autos off the highway.

About four miles south of Rosendale, the car apparently swerved out of control and smashed into four guard rails. The driver scrambled out of the wrecked car and fled on foot across an open field.

Byer and Stoedter took chase and yelled for the man to surrender. When he refused, Byer fired two warning shots into the air. The man stopped.

Police escorted Wilson back to the patrol car, where they searched him for weapons and then handcuffed his hands behind his back. They then searched the car, and allegedly discovered a quantity of narcotics and implements.

But the real excitement was yet to begin. The wrecked car was towed to a private garage, tires while police and Wilson followed in the patrol car. When they arrived at the garage, Byer decided to search Wilson again. He opened the car door, but Wilson who had managed to extricate himself from the handcuffs, allegedly lunged at Byer with a five-inch jackknife.

"He lunged at me once," said Byer, "and cut my finger. I ordered him to drop the knife. He lunged at me again. I slipped on the ice and fell, but I threw my flashlight at him and hit him in the forehead. Stoedter ordered him to drop the knife twice, but he came after me again. So Stoedter fired one shot and hit him in the shoulder."

Wilson was taken to Kingston Hospital by Don's Ambulance, where he is reported in fair condition. He was arraigned in the hospital, on charges of second degree assault, escape, sixth degree drug possession, possession of narcotics implements, passing a stop sign, failure to comply, speeding, and driving with bad

UCCC Board of Trustees Drops Four Courses

By JON POWERS

STONE RIDGE — The Board of Trustees of the Ulster County Community College voted unanimously Tuesday night to eliminate mechanical technology, and three other programs, from the college's offerings. The UCCC administration following a year-long cost analysis study. The administration determined that it would not be economically feasible to continue the programs. Mechanical technology will be removed from the academic offerings of the college on June 30, 1973. Freshman and sophomore students currently enrolled in the program will be permitted to finish their studies, but no new applicants will be accepted for the 1972 fall semester.

Also eliminated were design drafting and merchandising, both one-year programs. Both will end on June 30 this year. The fourth program eliminated by the Board of trustees is industrial technology-industrial administration, a two-year program that will conduct its last class on June 30 this year. In each case, according to college officials, declining enrollment figures coupled with the high cost of running each program necessitated their removal.

The mechanical technology program has a per pupil cost of $3,200, the highest at the college. The average is $1,044. UCCC, operating this year on a shoestring budget, has been forced to reduce or eliminate many services in order to cut back on expenses. Dr. George B. Erbstein, UCCC president, noted, however, that the college contemplates adding several new courses next year. "We're always considering changes," said Erbstein, "no college remains static."

Erbstein emphasized that the electrical technology and engineering science programs of the Engineering Technologies Division will be retained, as well as a two year engineering science transfer program and a one year drafting program. Sixteen full-time matriculated students are enrolled in the mechanical technology program; three are enrolled in the design drafting program; two are enrolled in the merchandising program and one student is enrolled in the industrial technology-industrial administration program.

No mention was made at Tuesday's meeting of the estimated $500,000 in equipment used in the mechanical technology program. Several faculty members have warned that the college will be required to return the equipment to the federal government, but Erbstein told The Freeman that "every effort will be made" to utilize the equipment in other programs at the college.

It was reported that the Board of Trustees did not discuss the fate of the professors involved in the four programs either, although Erbstein noted this week that all would be retained if positions become available for which they are qualified.

Parking Permits Sale Slated

KINGSTON — Monthly parking permits for the North Front Street Parking Garage will go on sale Friday, Joseph White, garage manager, announced today. Parking fees on March 1. White said that 120 monthly parking permits are now available at the garage offices. The cost of the permits will be $10 per month for undercover parking (60 spaces available) and $8 per month for outside parking. Informational sheets will be given to permit holders detailing monthly parking regulations.

White said that he anticipated no problems in selling the 120 monthly parking spaces. "We might even need more than that," he said.

White also announced that next Monday and Tuesday, a dry run to test the parking equipment will be held. All drivers entering the garage will be given a parking ticket. However, parking on the 28th and 29th will be free.

Charging starts on Wednesday, March 1, at the rate of 10 cents an hour for up to three hours, 50 cents for four hours, 75 cents for five hours and one dollar for parking between five and eight hours.

Parking has been free at the garage since it opened in December of 1970. The Uptown Businessmen's Association emphasized today that parking can still be free if customers patronize stores in the Uptown area which feature validation stickers.

Glen Stampfle, president of the Uptown Businessmen's Association, said that some 68 merchants in the association will participate in the parking ticket validation program.

Under that program, customers shopping in participating stores can secure a (validation) sticker from the store which will pay for an hour's parking. Customers shopping in more than one store can get more than one sticker. Up to three hours-free parking.

"All a customer has to do is just ask," Stampfle said. Participating stores will have decals identifying prominently displayed.

The garage will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday and on Saturdays and will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Fridays.

Clean Snow From Tubes

KINGSTON — The Daily Freeman's Circulation Department urges all motor route subscribers to be sure that their paper tubes are cleared of snow and readily accessible to delivery personnel today and throughout the winter months. Areas surrounding the tubes should be clear of snow in order to permit delivery cars to make a fast and efficient drop off. This will speed up delivery of The Daily Freeman to all motor route subscribers.

Adult Book Store Owner Faces Obscenity Charge

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON

A 50-year-old man, who, according to police is the owner of an Adult Book Store at 702 Broadway that has been the scene of police raids in recent months, is scheduled to appear Feb. 28 before City Judge Hubert A. Richter to face a charge of obscenity second degree, according to detectives.

Alfred Garrido of Camp Hill Road, Pomona, was taken into custody last Thursday by State Police from the Stony Point station, and charged with obscenity involving merchandise sold at the uptown book store and articles seized by troopers in a raid at a Town of Clarkstown warehouse.

Richard Locke, 22, a sales clerk at the store, who gave his address as 702-B, Broadway, was arrested by police Wednesday night, Feb. 9 after authorities raided the book store. He was charged with obscenity second degree and his case is pending in City Court.

Charles A. Fenner, 49, of Stony Point, who police said owned the uptown store at the time of a raid last October, recently was convicted of an obsenity charge by a jury after trial in City Court. Fenner plans to appeal the conviction.

According to State Police BCI officers at Stony Point, they obtained a search warrant on Feb. 16 from Town of Clarkstown Justice Edward Flynn, and later police raided a warehouse on Route 9W in charge of obscenity second degree. At the same time, they seized a quantity of books and magazines and other allied materials authorities considered pornography.

On Feb. 17, BCI officers arrested Garrido on a warrant charging obscenity second degree. At the same time, troopers executed a warrant issued in Kingston City Court citing Garrido for obscenity second degree involving his alleged ownership of materials seized during a police raid on Feb. 9 at the uptown Kingston store.

Garrido was arraigned before Judge Flynn. He pleaded innocent to the charge filed by state troopers. He posted $500 bail and was released pending a hearing. The defendant also posted an additional $500 pending his appearance before Judge Richter on Feb. 28.

Proposal Goes to Senate

Bell's Papergirl Bill Passes

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Young girls should have the same opportunity as boys to have a newspaper route, said the sponsor of a bill that passed the Assembly Tuesday.

"I want to strike a blow for mini-women's lib," said Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, R-Woodstock.

The labor law and the education law now permit only boys more than 12 years old to carry newspapers. Bell's measure, which was sent to the Senate, would substitute the word "minor" for the word "boy."

A similar bill died in a Senate committee last year on objections that it was unfair to expect girls to carry newspapers.

Bell has also sponsored legislation protecting Ulster County and other upstate local governments against potential revenue loss under revised procedures for assessing state-owned wild and forest lands.

Enactment of this measure would delay for an 11th consecutive year the reduction in assessments on state owned wild or forest lands after reassessment by the State Board of Equalization and Assessments.

Bell said that "since state-owned forest land comprises a substantial portion of land on local tax rolls in the Catskill forest preserve as well as the Adirondack forest preserve, implementation of the reassessment would have an unfavorable effect upon the economy of Ulster County and other similarly situated areas. In order to compensate for the potential loss, local governments would be faced with raising new taxes or cutting needed services.

The Legislature has recognized the plight of affected local governments and each year enact bills granting a one-year extension. This has prevented significant erosion of our tax base. Under the reassessment program, Ulster County stands to lose approximately $1.2 million worth of assessed value on state-owned properties. This represents an additional tax burden on our local and school districts of approximately one quarter of a million dollars. Such a loss would certainly create severe fiscal hardships."

Assemblyman Bell concluded by stating that in addition to providing the monies necessary for continuation of local government programs, this bill would permit time for research on a permanent solution to the problems of state-owned lands which benefit not only the local residents but the general citizenry of the state.

Reapportionment Appeal Planned

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—Two attorneys attacking the Republican drawn legislative reapportionment plan indicate they will appeal Tuesday's State Supreme Court decision affirming the plan.

"The question is clearly an important one," said Richard W. Hulbert of Brooklyn, "and I'm certain an appeal will be taken."

Hulbert, who brought suit on behalf of New York University law professor Michael Schwartz, said he had not determined whether to go before the Appellate Division, or file directly before the Court of Appeals.

He noted there could be a time problem, with the June 20 primary less than four months away, but said the problems

"grew out of the way the legislature approved the bill."

The office of Edward J. Hart of Merick also said it was "very definitely" considering an appeal.

State Supreme Court Justice Edward S. Conway ruled against the combined suits, finding that remapping of Assembly and Senate districts was constitutional.

Conway dismissed arguments that the new districts were not "compact and contiguous"—and that they amounted to "partisan gerrymandering."

Admitting some districts had irregular shapes, he attributed the development to New York's varying physical features and shifting population.

"We have a state that defies a uniform physical subdivision," he said. "Therefore, the legislature must deal with one of the most difficult 'jig saw' puzzles in the world."

He added that the challengers had not proved "that the historic and traditional significance of counties and towns in the districting process was not continued where and as far as possible."

On the gerrymander question, the judge said the bipartisan support for the remap in the legislature "removes even the suspicion attempted to be raised by the petitioners of political 'partisan gerrymandering.'"

The bill passed with some Democratic votes, as reform had been given safe districts in return for voting for the $407 million tax package.

The new lines, effective for the primary this June 20 and for this November, are expected to strengthen GOP control of the Assembly by five to eight votes and Senate by three.

After Conway's decision, Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea and Senate GOP Leader Earl W. Brydges said they were "gratified" by the ruling.

"We have felt all along that the plan was legally unassailable," they said in a joint statement.

Rocky Confident on Budget Stand

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is confident that his proposed $7.9-billion proposed budget will stand up to Democratic State Comptroller Arthur Levitt's court challenge that terms it insufficiently detailed about spending plans.

"We are confident," said a Rockefeller spokesman, "that the new budget is well within the constitutional limits."

In other court activity related to the legislature Tuesday, the legislative reapportionment plan approved during a special December session was upheld by a State Supreme Court justice.

Levitt filed suit in State Supreme Court seeking a declaratory judgment on whether the budget appropriation bills provide enough information for the legislature to "take meaningful action."

Should he win, it could lead to a new way of spelling out appropriations bills.

Levitt, in the court papers, said that the "lump sum" appropriations "are without adequate schedule or itemization, and thus do not permit the legislature to strike out, reduce or add items in the manner intended."

His double-edged suit also asked the court to rule on whether the budget director has power to make "interchanges"—change the purpose of funds—in the capital-construction portion of the budget.

The comptroller said that one objection recently had been satisfied by action of the governor. The "interchange" power for the state purposes section of the budget was removed, he said.

Following Levitt's announcement, Rockefeller's spokesman said, "We are disappointed that Comptroller Levitt had to bring the suit, especially since we made a number of changes in the new budget's format to meet complaints we had received last year."

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, who defends the state in the action, said "the governor's budget complies in all respects with the constitution and with decisions of the courts."

But Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea, while he did not comment on the suit, said similar changes had been recommended last October in a report of the Republican-controlled Assembly ways and means committee.

Levitt's office, noting the question may be a point of argument in court, declined to offer an example of a "lump sum" in the proposed budget.

Levitt's challenge, which does not attack the revenue portions of Rockefeller's proposed budget, must be answered in court within 20 days.

The staff report of the ways and means committee criticized an example in the present 1971-72 budget—"State University of New York at Albany, $38,898,400."

There could have been a further breakdown in that case, according to the report, which offered its own version. The suggested form contained a main topic and 14 sub-categories.

The first two lines look like this:

"State University of New York at Albany, including 2,524 full-time equivalent employees, $38,898,400."

"Instruction and department Research, including 283 teaching and 357 non-teaching full-time - equivalent positions, $19,558,400."

Similar challenges to so-called "lump-sum" budgets have been rejected in recent years. Courts have ruled that those bringing the action did not have standing, or a proper legal position from which to bring suit.

The courts, however, have left open the question on whether a comptroller would have standing.

In 1959, Gov. Herbert Lehman's $410-million budget had to be redrawn because of a similar court challenge by State Comptroller Morris Tremaine. The legislature repassed the budget during a special session.

Freelance Photographer Gives His Court Version

NEW YORK (AP) — With New York City landmarks for his itinerary, photographer Ronald E. Galella has described for the court his version of the tribulations and frustrations of capturing Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis and her family on film.

Under cross examination Tuesday, Galella admitted, however, that he had not submitted all pictures taken of Mrs. Onassis and her children and that a 1970 complaint of his alleged harassment predated the alleged incident it described.

The freelance photographer charges Mrs. Onassis and the Secret Service agents who guard her children with interfering with his livelihood in a $1.3 million damage suit.

In a countersuit, the former first lady charges that the-buried photographer has invaded her privacy and frightened her. She seeks a court injunction to keep Galella away from her and her children.

Galella testified that a Secret Service agent shoved him into a snow bank in Central Park on Jan. 3, 1971 while another agent pushed him out of the way the previous May as he tried to get a "never-before-taken" picture at the Metropolitan Opera House.

The unique picture was to have been of Mr. and Mrs. Aristotle Onassis and their children by previous marriages, Caroline and John Kennedy and Christina Onassis, leaving their opera box.

Saying "I don't give up easy," Galella testified he ran down to the basement garage hoping for a second chance at the family, but a "policeman" stood right in front of me, put his hand on my flashgun and twisted it."

Man Wanted to Die, Misses Three Chances

GASTONIA, N.C. (UPI)—Roger Dale Wensel, 29, who said he tried to commit suicide because his wife was leaving him, crashed two small planes without injury Tuesday and was captured by a policeman who was shooting to kill him and missed.

"He begged me to go ahead and kill him. He said he wished my aim had been a little better," said Detective L. W. Cartrett, who, aiming at Wensel's head, had missed his first shot and knocked a .22 caliber rifle from Wensel's hands with his second shot.

Cartrett, off duty at the time, said he never before had shot at a man in his 10 years on the Gaston County rural police force.

Wensel was charged with armed robbery. Other charges were expected to be filed later, and the FBI was notified to investigate possible air piracy.

Wensel told police he didn't want to live because his wife said she was going to divorce him, Detective Capt. Jim Auten said.

Wensel arrived at the airport a short time after airport Manager Dick Caldwell and Cartrett, a student pilot, returned from a flight.

"He motioned for us to come out with our hands up," Cartrett said. "As I moved out,

Ellenville Attorney Now Filing County Rolls Suit

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE
Ellenville attorney Albert I. Lonstein is in the process of filing a suit in Ulster County Supreme Court to force the Village of Ellenville to use the Ulster County rolls for purposes of registration in the upcoming village elections.

State law puts it at Ellenville's discretion to use the county rolls if it chooses. At the Feb. 7 meeting of the village board, a resolution to use the county rolls failed; two voted for it, one against, and trustees David Kramer and Walter Grey abstained. The resolution needed a majority of those present, in this case three, to pass, and failed for lack of it.

Lonstein said Tuesday he was bringing the suit on behalf of interested parents. He conceded the Republican Party in Ellenville was "interested", but said he was not suing on its behalf.

The attorney said he expected the parents on whose behalf he was pursuing the mandamus proceeding to be in to see him in the near future, and was holding the release of their names until then.

He is bringing the suit, he said, because he feels it unfair that Ellenville residents who register for a general election also have to register for a village election. "I can't believe there have to be two registrations," he said.

Ellenville Village Clerk Lillian Finkelstein said there is some confusion surrounding the use of the county rolls in Ellenville.

According to Mrs. Finkelstein, there is a conflict with village law in the use of the rolls. She said names are dropped from the county rolls of voters who have not voted in two years. Names are dropped from the village rolls of persons who have not voted in four years, and the ordinance governing village registration expressly says those who are dropped must come in and reregister before they can get back on the village rolls.

She said, because of the village ordinance, even those voters who have not voted in the village in four years and have been dropped from the village rolls because of it would have to reregister in the village whether they were on the county rolls or not.

Another drawback to using the county rolls is the rolls will not be available until about March 1, and the first village registration day is March 2.

The great concern over using the county rolls is the loss of the vote by the new 18-year-old voters who might be away at school and unable to register in the village. Many of them are already on the county rolls.

Mrs. Finkelstein said to help out the new voters, she was accepting telephone registration of them from their parents or guardians. The village is holding registration days Thursday, March 2 and Saturday, March 4, both days from noon to 9 p.m. The deadline for parents to call in is March 4.

The more you get into it, she said, the more "unclear" the situation regarding using the county rolls becomes. She said it might be well for the village, now that it is recodifying its ordinances, to scrap the registration ordinance, and "start fresh."

The deadline for getting applications from Mrs. Finkelstein for absentee ballots is March 8. To qualify for an absentee ballot an Ellenville resident must be out of the county on voting day.

Village Attorney Alex J. Nirenberg, who will represent the village if and when Lonstein's suit is filed, said he would have to wait for the papers to reach his desk before commenting.

Gardiner Art Center Opposed

GARDINER
About 90 people showed up at the Gardiner Fire House Tuesday for the public hearing on the Lake Illyria Arts and Crafts center, and only the center spoke in favor of it.

The center, a commercial venture proposed for the junction of Route 299 and Sparkling Ridge Road, needs a variance from the Town of Gardiner's stopgap ordinance to be built. The public hearing was on the granting of the variance, and the Gardiner Town Board, Planning Board, and Board of Appeals all attended the meeting to get the residents' views.

Dr. Adam Gillon, a professor at the State University College at New Paltz, and his wife, an architect who has designed a number of homes in the Lake Sharon area and who would be the architect for the proposed center, are the one's who want to build the center, and they had a lonely night Tuesday.

Gillon outlined the plans for the center. It would be built on a six and one-half acre tract and have a basement and two upper floors. The present plans call for the building to have 11,000 to 13,000 sq. ft. and house a restaurant and small cafe, art and craft boutiques, a gallery-music hall, and the offices of a graphics and book design firm.

Gillon said the center was a "modest proposal."

Parking is provided for 40 cars in the main lot, with an auxiliary lot for 60 cars. The area is to be heavily landscaped, and Gillon said it was not a shopping center.

Golman Gundersen, of Wawarsing Road, opened the opposition by stating he bought his land as residential, and was opposed to any commercial development of the area.

Ken Dewey, of Sparkling Ridge Road, a member of the State Cultural Resources Commission, showed a number of photographs of New Paltz and Route 299. His position was that all the services the Gillons intend to provide are available in New Paltz.

He said a commercial development detracts and distracts from the beauty of the area, and the proposed center would interfere with the enjoyment of the Shawangunk cliffs.

David Forester, also of Sparkling Ridge Road, is a planner for Mid Hudson Pattern for Progress. He spoke as a local resident strongly against the proposed development.

Forester said Route 299 from New Paltz to its junction with Route 44-55 was proposed as a scenic roadway by the President's Council for Recreation and Natural Beauty, and commercial development could make the road substantially less beautiful. He said the board had to consider the "dominant quality of the area" in determining whether or not to grant the variance.

Numerous residents, speaking from the floor, objected to the center on the grounds that it would endanger their peace and quiet, detract from the residential and rural quality of the area, and open the door for other commercial enterprises.

Many residents said there were no guarantees for the future, and no matter what the merits of the Gillon proposal, the property could be used for some very undesirable things if the Gillons left, or found their proposal economically unfeasible.

Gillon said the land had always been considered commercial, he had the support of many members of the local artistic community, and the land on which the proposed center is to be built is presently "ugly," and would look better with the center and landscaping.

The Gardiner boards will discuss the proposal in executive session Feb. 28, and action by the town board may be forthcoming at the March meeting.

Before the Lake Illyria hearing, a hearing was held on the proposed dump ordinance.

The ordinance sets fees for commercial haulers, bans garbage from outside Gardiner (as does present law), specifies what can be dumped, and provides for up to a $50 fine for violation of the law and a jail term if the fine isn't paid. No opposition to the ordinance was heard.

After the meeting, a lengthy discussion was held with the planning board on the progress of zoning. The consensus was that zoning was at least a year away for Gardiner, but that adequate protection now existed in the stopgap ordinances. When a plan is worked up, Gardiner residents will be able to vote on it before it is adopted.

Traficanti Explains Dismissal of Charges Against Ellenville Patrolmen

ELLENVILLE — Neither the district attorney's office or a police agency can manufacture evidence," assistant District Attorney Joseph J. Traficanti Jr., emphasized following what he termed "conflicting reports and the wide spread interest generated by the arrest of Ellenville patrolmen for rape in the third degree," early Feb. 17. In a recent press release, Traficanti said that because of this, his office "feels it is imperative to explain the true reasons for the dismissals against the patrolmen which occurred in the Village of Ellenville Court early Feb. 17. Traficanti explained that under the present New York State law involving sex offenses, there is a statutory requirement that no defendant may be convicted solely on the uncorroborated testimony of the victim or complaint. Case law requires that each and every element of the offense charged be old girl. I must emphasize that corroborated, as well as the time and place." This office has not been supplied by the investi-

Winds of Change

Labor had become so powerful during World War II that demands to curb its excesses forced passage by Congress of the Taft-Hartley Act in 1947. A Congress that defied labor overrode President Truman's veto. But the law has not curbed work stoppages in nationally vital industries today, only delayed them. And President Nixon asked for a law for binding arbitration in the West Coast dock strike.

Perhaps stimulated by the President's demand, a contract was finally negotiated to end the dock strike, the longest tie-up in United States history. There was a year of talks in which the strike paralyzed coast shipping except for the return to work during the brief Taft-Hartley breathing spell ordered by President Nixon. After that, when the dockers returned to the picket line so no settlement was reached. Mr. Nixon demanded binding arbitration. That sped the settlement.

While workers and industries vote on the proposed pact—with a figure reputed to be several times the 5.5 per cent wage pay ceiling—Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson predicted that Congress would enact the Nixon arbitration proposal to prevent "crippling strikes" as soon as the nation is faced with another labor crisis.

In the last 14 months, Congress has departed from its legislative schedule on three occasions for the thankless job of settling labor disputes—once on the dock strike and twice on railway strikes. Noting that "the winds of change are blowing in Congress," Hodgson said it has only two choices—either gear up with a large staff and enormous budget to handle a situation that is growing in magnitude or pass legislation that will enable the President to take appropriate action.

National disillusionment will force Congress to give the President weapons to avert work stoppages that harm the nation, just as it produced the now outdated Taft-Hartley 25 years ago.

Peace to the Strong

No matter how American relations improve with Peking and Moscow as a result of President Nixon's visits to them this spring, the United States must have the nuclear capability to fight both the Soviet Union and China simultaneously. This practical military view was given Congress in secret testimony by Admiral Thomas H. Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

It was both timely and necessary for the nation's highest ranking professional military man to warn Congress and the country to remain alert to all possibilities. The President may lay the ground work for cordial relations with the Communist giants, but it is the business of the military establishment to make sure that our defense is strong enough to deter either or both potential opponents from taking advantage of the situation and attacking us.

The classic example of international perfidy, of course, is the widely distributed pictures of Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany aboard a British man-of-war, pleasantly visiting with his cousin King George V, which was followed shortly thereafter by the holocaust of World War I.

Even more relevant was the explosion of Soviet Premier Nikolai Khrushchev in Paris when the American U2 was downed, knowing that aerial surveillance had been a common precaution, but using the event to blast the United States and prevent the scheduled summit meeting with President Eisenhower.

Moorer knows full well the Soviet's nuclear capability. China's, he said, by the end of the decade could extend to continental United States. We must maintain our capability to deter both if we want to avoid a nuclear holocaust.

$1-MILLION-A-DAY NUMBERS

With the numbers racket, grossing $1-million-a-day in Washington, the nation's capital is coming under the control of organized crime. Loan sharking and heroin traffic are also coming under organized crime control. Hoodlums from New York and other cities are blamed. The city will have to come under drastic federal regulation.

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's political operatives have infuriated Capitol Hill Republicans by denying them funds to send television tapes to their home states.

Republican National Chairman Bob Dole, who doubles as the Senator from Kansas, has earmarked about $50,000 a month for GOP conservatives and liberals alike to use for TV broadcasts.

He asked the Committee for the Relection of the President, a political extension of the White House, for financial help but was turned down. The committee has plenty of money for President Nixon's campaign but none to spare, apparently, for congressional candidates.

This infuriated the 22 Senators and dozens of Representatives who had been using the video tapes.

Illinois' boyish Sen. Charles Percy, for example, had arranged to tape and distribute to Illinois TV stations a 40-second interview with Pete Peterson, the new Commerce Secretary, who hails from Illinois.

In a private memo to Percy, aid Dom Doffron explained: "David Green (the program producer) says the Committee to Reelect the President decided last night that, because of a money squeeze, the videotape program for GOP Senators is cancelled, at least until the end of February."

Doffron said "most of the 22 Senators who are involved in the program are outraged," then added angrily: "I simply can't believe that the President's people are short of money. I also think that they could be made to understand the importance of a friendly Senator Percy in a 1972 presidential campaign. This is nickel and dime stuff."

Footnote: Senators, Carl Curtis, R-Neb., Bill Brock, R-Tenn., and Ed Gurney, R-Fla., met privately with the Nixon Committee's Jeb Magruder last week to protest the decision. A high committee source, who asked us not to identify him, told us talks are still going on at the GOP National Committee to decide how to allocate campaign funds for the party's best good.

Hughes and Mafia

There are whispers that Howard Hughes the mystery billionaire, beat it out of the Bahamas because American racketeers didn't want him cutting in on their gambling operations.

Hughes built a hotel-casino empire in Las Vegas that began crowding the crime syndicate operators. Then, in November 1970, he suddenly left the Nevada gambling capital for the Caribbean.

He held a lease on Cay Sal island and indicated interest in purchasing the Coral Harbor complex in the Bahamas. This led to rumors that Hughes might go into competition with the syndicate-operated casinos.

The crime lords were able to bring pressure on the Bahamian government, according to the whispers, to start harassing Hughes and his aides. This encouraged their abrupt departure.

No less than U.S. Consul General Moncreiff J. Spear, in a secret report to the State Department, has described "the threat that organized crime in the U.S. may gain a hold over the Bahamas Government."

"As the GOBI (Government of Bahamas Island) has had difficulty in getting credit from reputable financial sources," wrote Spear, "the pressure has increased on its leaders to accept assistance from criminal sources seeking to establish their operations here, particularly in the casinos."

"The PLP (the ruling Progressive Liberal Party) had syndicate financial backing in 1967 but subsequently sold out these supporters on gaining power and access to respectable financing."

"Recently, there has been evidence suggesting that some GOBI leaders are getting criminal financing and are playing politics with security at the casinos. . . ."

Hughes may also have become fed up, say those who know him, with the black domination of the Bahamas. In the past, he has alluded to his southern upbringing and has expressed irritation with the black power movement.

In the Bahamas, as Spear points out in his secret report, "the foremost, internal force at work . . . is the determination of the GOBI to make government the engine for development as a means of gaining control of the country's economy, i.e., to see that black Bahamians, who prior to 1967 are judged to have been exploited or deprived, share the choicest fruits of economic development."

"It is obvious that the Bahamas will continue to pay for its oligarchical white heritage, that predictions of a smooth transition of PLP rule in 1967 have not been borne out by events, and that the full effects of black resentment at lack of training and opportunity as a result of white rule are by no means over."

Lack of Russian 'Give'

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President's Nixon's advisors had been confident the Soviet feud with Mao's China would lead Moscow inevitably to an accommodation with the United States.

They are losing some of that confidence.

There is still strong hope for an arms agreement (SALT). But Nixon himself is known to feel personally that such an agreement, without an accompanying decline in Soviet behind-the-scenes military maneuvering in the Middle East, South Asia and Africa, would be somewhat of a mirage. It might, in fact, endanger peace by leading the American people to complacency as to Soviet capabilities and intent. That is, under the umbrella of an arms agreement, but without a change in attitude, the Soviet Union might feel even more free than now to encourage tensions and wars that could lead to a Soviet-U.S. confrontation.

The growing pessimism in the White House comes from recent events.

It is difficult to describe just how profoundly the Soviet actions before and during the Indian invasion of East Pakistan have influenced thinking in the White House.

Before fighting broke out, the United States appealed in vain for Moscow to cooperate in getting India to hold off to see whether Pakistan, in response to American appeals, would agree to self-determination for East Bengal and would stop its armies from riding roughshod over the Bengalis.

The Soviet Union refused. Instead, Moscow used its military muscle to encourage the Indian invasion and to warn Communist China not to interfere, under the implied threat of Russian armed action.

Nixon himself is especially bitter that Soviet vetoes prevented the United Nations from moderating the conflict or achieving a cease fire during the fighting, though the General Assembly voted overwhelmingly for a cease fire and withdrawal.

As Henry Kissinger sees it, Soviet attitudes during the India-Pakistan crisis have dangerous implications for other regional conflicts.

Nixon's advisors are known to be convinced the Soviet Union has lost interest in meaningful cooperative efforts to achieve either an interim or permanent settlement of the Israeli-Arab conflict to perpetuate and expand its own military position in Egypt's increasing dependence on Soviet military supply to gain the use of naval and air facilities in that Arab nation.

The White House believes these Soviet actions in Egypt and elsewhere in the Middle East have serious implications with regard to the Mediterranean, the Atlantic Alliance and global stability which cannot be ignored.

Meanwhile the Soviet Union continues to fuel local tensions in a number of African lands, meddling in local quarrels and local politics in ways that could lead to armed conflict.

So far as can be determined neither Nixon nor his advisors have given up hope. They believe that the pressure of Communist China's growing nuclear power and the vigor of Mao's worldwide counter-Soviet drive will bring Moscow (perhaps kicking and screaming all the while) to a more moderate stance worldwide. But they admit they have not much to go on to date — except for the arms talks.

Timely Quotes

Petroleum production in this country is at about the same stage as a woman who has just reached her 40th birthday. She may have seen better days, but there's a lot of life in the old girl yet.

—Wayne E. Glenn, divisional president of Continental Oil Company, noting there are still about 346 billion barrels of recoverable oil in the United States, compared with less than 100 billion barrels produced since 1859.

No matter how they (the Democrats) attack the President, they cannot obscure two things. First, the fact that they are responsible for Vietnam, and second, the fact that Richard Nixon is responsible for acting to bring that war to a close.

Be Good and Have a Heart

Twenty years ago I awakened with my chest "asleep." It tingled, sat up and looked at the clock on the night table. Five a.m. I lit a cigarette and rubbed my chest. The tingle remained. Half asleep, I was surprised to find that I could inhale only shallow breaths. I phoned Dr. Bernard Krull.

"This is probably nothing and I apologize for waking you up, Bernie, but in 15 minutes he and the volunteer ambulance corps were at the house, my wife and children were awake, crying, and I was on my way to Holy Name Hospital."

End of story. The beginning and end are as swift as the snap of fingers. Dr. Krull was wise. He treated the case as though it were the worst type of heart attack — a myocardial infarction — and, fortunately, it proved to be the least — simple decompensation. It did not happen again. And yet, when God paroled me out of that hospital bed, I decided to maintain an interest in the human heart. The first thing I learned was that the 10-ounce pump cannot be isolated for study without considering the condition of all the arteries and veins in addition to the efficiency of the lungs.

This is encompassed by a single word: cardiovascular. Translated, it is the feeding and garbage disposal system for every one of the billions of cells in the human body. It carries food; it hauls refuse away. The greatest advance in cardiovascular studies, in my estimation, is not in the area of the dramatic heart transplants, but in the field of preventive medicine.

Look at it this way: one per cent of all Americans will die this year. This comes to a little over two million persons of all ages expiring from a variety of causes. Of these, 1,098,300 (54 per cent) will die from cardiovascular disease. There is nothing sudden about CVD. The human heart and arteries absorb a lot of abuse, usually over a period of years, before an artery is plugged by a clot, or the heart shutters and fails.

When a patient dies of a heart attack, the next of kin usually says: "He was never sick a day of his life." To the contrary, the inner lining of his arteries had been thickening for years as deposits of fat diminished the size of the tube to a point where blood could barely squeeze through.

I don't know of anyone over 30 who hasn't some form of arteriosclerosis. That's a doctor's word meaning hardening of the arteries. It is part of the aging process. The only judge of whether you are piling up too much fat inside those arteries is your family physician. He can undertake simple tests for cholesterol and triglycerides, in addition to taking an electrocardiogram and listening to your heart relaxed and under stress.

If he says that your plumbing system is operating under "normal tolerance," take your wife out and have a happy blast. If not, then follow his counsel to cut down on fatty substances, smoking, etc., and count yourself lucky that you are now in position to PREVENT a heart attack.

Either way, you're fortunate. When a heart attack occurs, two out of three patients die before they reach the hospital. The odds are poor. The American Heart Association, which asked me to write this article, does not want healthy people to become overly heart-conscious. The cardiac cripple is almost as bad as the fat wheezing man who never bothers about his heart and says, "I'm okay."

Dr. Edwin Boyle, Director of Research at the Miami Heart Institute, is the most articulate man on the subject. His life work is to prevent heart attacks, strokes, congestive heart failure and to curb hypertension. He knows that the calendar age of most people has little meaning. The cardiovascular age is the true determinant. There are old men at age 35 and young ones at 75.

It is an irony of our times that if the family car stalls at red lights, we take it to the service station for a checkup. If the heart falters, emitting lightning flashes of chest pain, we call it "indigestion" and pop a few antacid pills in our mouth. The obvious conclusion is that we cannot do without the car, but we can dispense with the heart.

Have a heart. Be good to yourself. . . .

Trautman Group Two-Year Study Issues Major Recommendations

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK—The major recommendations of Trautman Associates' two-year study of solid waste disposal for Dutchess County are county funding and administration of all garbage and local municipality control of collection services.

William Trautman explained the ramifications of the suggestions to a nearly full house at the Rhinebeck Town Hall Tuesday night with people in attendance from all parts of northern Dutchess.

He stated that it was necessary for the county to take over the massive project, which involves presently about 200,000 tons of refuse a year, because, "In many towns we see no solutions at all."

He projected that the refuse will double by the end of a 20 year period. The plan is based on 20 years, with whatever the future holds after that a mystery.

Basically, the plan calls for four areawide landfill sites to replace the 25 now in existence. The only incinerator in the county is in Beacon.

The one to serve the northwestern portion, including towns of Red Hook, Rhinebeck, Milan, Clinton, and a portion of Hyde Park, is recommended to be on the site of the present Rhinebeck town dump. This area generates about 13,000 tons of refuse a year, or about 7 per cent of the county's total.

There would also be two "container stations" for the rural areas of each district where residents or contractors could dump their garbage into containers for truck transport to the landfill site.

And a shredder in the southern part of the county would handle larger metal items. The report also recommended two open pit incinerators, to be used on a seasonal basis, for wood and brush.

Other recommendations included keeping the present abandoned car program going, as it has received high praise.

Asking for more site engineering than has been the practice in the past, calling for licensing of private collectors by the county to insure compliance with rudiments of transportation:—Suggesting "user charges" per family, rather than supporting the program through taxes, with an estimated cost per ton of refuse of $10 if done individually, or about $50 to $60 per year per household.

While stating that recycling could actually only account for about four per cent of the county's refuse, Trautman advocated an initial conservative attempt to set up 13 recycling centers, corresponding with the number of school districts in the county, where persons might voluntarily deliver glass, cans, and paper.

"The object should be just to break even," he added. Most of the municipalities in the county were judged to be "in trouble" with refuse disposal, or would be within five years. It is anticipated that the county population in 20 years will be about 340,000.

Some drainage problems at the Rhinebeck landfill site were pointed out by Supervisor William Allen, and Trautman said he thought those could be dealt with with site preparation costs of about $75,000. He said that his firm had not been able to find another site for this area despite searching diligently.

Some of the figures associated with the plan are a capital investment of $7.5 million and succeeding annual operating costs of $1.8 million. The capital outlay would be rejected.

include $3.4 million for new site acquisition; $1.54 million for the bulk shredder; $650,000 for closing down present unwanted sites; and $378,000 for setting up the 13 container stations.

The plan must go before the Board of Representatives, probably in about two months, and two public hearings must be held.

What happens to everyone's garbage after that depends upon whether the plan is accepted, accepted with modification, or rejected.

LENTEN STUDY—Catholic parishes of St. Peter's, Immaculate Conception and St. Mary's are offering an adult education course aimed at achieving a deeper appreciation of the Mass. Classes, held at St. Mary's, 167 Broadway from 8 to 9 p. m. started Tuesday. Leaders of the Lenten study are (L-R) the Rev. James S. Thiel, CSSR, the Rev. Gary E. Lauenstein, CSSR, Sister Eileen Treanor, PBVM, the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, assistant pastor, St. Mary's Church. Participants may register at the door. Coffee and informal discussion follow the class sessions. Text and visual aids are used in the presentation. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Snowmobiles Get Third Woodstock Airing

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

WOODSTOCK—It'll be the third public hearing in a little over a year tonight in Woodstock on those cool, fast fun machines, the snowmobiles.

Howl as they may, the trusty husky of a decade or so ago has all but been replaced by the ingenious machine, and those Woodstockers who swear by them have long urged the art colony's town board to recognize their existence—even if it means regulation.

At a public hearing set for tonight at 8 p. m. in the Town Hall, the board will open the floor for discussion on Snowmobile Local Law No. 1. After hearing arguments from those opposed to the noise and environmental problems posed by snowmobiles, and others from those who find them a recreational boon, the board votes to pass the new law—snowmobiles will face regulation on public highways and places in the Town of Woodstock.

The board sees the purpose of any such law as necessary to "protect the public health, welfare and safety" by regulating the operation of the little machines. It also has in mind the safety of other vehicular and pedestrian travel, as well as the promotion of the safe and proper use of the sailing-over-the-snow mini-transports.

If the proposed local law is passed, snowmobiles may be operated on portions of public streets and highways as designated and posted—and as follows:

- On the shoulders and inside banks of town streets or highways or portions designated.
- On the shoulders and inside banks of Mink Hollow and Silver Hollow Roads, both in the upper reaches of the township.
- On the roadway itself in the event the outside bank, inside bank or shoulder of the roads listed above are "impassable" or non-existent because of prevailing snow conditions—or the condition of the terrain makes such use impossible. • Limited operation on the highway will be allowed when authorized or directed by the Town Supervisor, if the operation of a snowmobile on any portion of the highway is for the purposes of an emergency.

Those would be the advantages to snowmobilers under the new law. There would, however, be conditions and restrictions as well, among them:

- When operating on shoulders, banks of town streets or highways, the snowmobile driver must be insured against public liability and must carry with him proof of financial responsibility, and display such certificate of liability insurance and coverage on the request of any law enforcement officer or person suffering or claiming to suffer personal injury or property damage from the operation of a snowmobile.

• No snowmobiler will be allowed to operate his machine within the street, highway, right of way of the town except on the right side of the right of way and in the same direction as highway traffic. In other public places, route direction markers must be followed.

• Snowmobiling will be prohibited on Woodstock town roads between 11 p. m. and 8 a. m. weekdays, and between 2 a. m. and 8 a. m. on Saturdays and Sundays; and a speed limit on any portion of a town road must be maintained at no more than 15 miles per hour.

• Unattended snowmobiles will not be allowed on town highways or in public places while the motor is running, and keys must not be left in the ignition or elsewhere in the machine.

• Snowmobilers must obey strictly all vehicular traffic signs, signals, rules and regulations of vehicular traffic on town highways, as well as the orders and directions of law enforcement officers directing traffic regulations.

• No one under the age of 16 will be permitted to operate a snowmobile on any town road or portion of road unless accompanied by an adult of 21 years' passed, will be subject to a fine to attract a large crowd of pro and con residents to argue the merits of such a law.

• Violators of the law, if tonight's hearing is expected

Capt. Greer Scores 87.8 In Deputy Chief Test

KINGSTON

Captain Philip E. Greer Sr. scored 87.8 per cent on the Civil Service examination for deputy fire chief, according to the Kingston Civil Service Commission.

Capt. Greer took the examination on Nov. 20, 1971, scored 81 per cent and had 6.8 seniority credits added to his mark. He is a veteran of 18 years service with the Department.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig, president of the Fire Board of Commissioners, told The Freeman today that the commissioners will review the results of the test at their regular meeting on March 7.

Three vacancies, due to retirement, now exist in the highest echelon of the Kingston Fire Department. Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Chiefs Glendyn Southard and Harry Sills announced their retirements last month. There are two deputy chiefs left, Hugh Greer, Capt. Greer's brother, and Robert Maines.

The commissioners will have a number of important decisions to make at that March 7 meeting. There is the question of who will be chief of the department, Deputy Chief Maines or Deputy Chief Greer, pending the taking of an examination by both for chief in November. The commissioners could decide to keep things the way they are now, with the deputy chief on duty in charge of the department.

Assuming one of the deputy chiefs (Capt. Greer has not been officially appointed) succeeds to chief, it will still leave two vacancies for deputy chief, assuming Capt. Greer is promoted. The commissioners will in all likelihood establish an eligibility test for deputy chief. And with captains moving up to deputy chief, it creates vacancies all the way down the line. The year 1972 could be a year of wide-scale promotions in the Kingston Fire Department.

Capt. Greer, 44, was born in Yonkers but moved to Kingston with his family in 1940. A navy veteran of World War II and of the Korean Conflict, he was appointed to the fire department in February of 1954.

Capt. Greer was promoted to lieutenant on Aug. 28, 1965 and to captain on Jan. 10, 1970.

He is married to the former Nancy Kilmer and is the father of five children. The Greer family lives at 37 Henry Street. Greer has an extensive record of community involvement. He was city chairman of the Cancer Crusade in 1967 and city chairman of Heart Sunday last year.

Negotiator Jarring Arrives in Jordan

By United Press International — U.N. Middle East negotiator Gunnar V. Jarring flew to Amman, Jordan today for a brief visit with Foreign Minister Abdullah Salah before going to Israel. Jarring spent three days in Cairo talking to Egyptian leaders and then flew to Nicosia, Cyprus Sunday. He will spend one day with Israeli leaders although he probably will not meet with Prime Minister Golda Meir because the current official assessment is that no breakthrough toward Middle East peace was likely to emerge from Jarring's trip to Israel. In Jerusalem Thursday night, Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan reaffirmed that Israel would not accept a prior commitment to withdraw from occupied Arab lands as a condition for opening negotiations on the Middle East. Dayan's remarks underscored the current official assessment that no breakthrough toward Middle East peace was likely to emerge from Jarring's trip to Israel. "Israel would not accept the ultimatum calling on her to announce readiness to withdraw back to the international boundary (that separated Israel and Egypt before the 1967 Middle East War)," Dayan said. It was that Egyptian demands and Israel's refusal that broke off Jarring's peace mission a year ago.

Town Board Adopts Law

The Kingston Town Board adopted a local law Tuesday night giving it the power to enact local laws instead of ordinances following a public hearing attended by only a handful of town residents. Edward W. Seche Jr., town clerk, said the law was passed because legal advertising for laws is less expensive than for ordinances required for or dinances.

Israeli sources said Israel considered the United States' initiative toward indirect negotiations between Israel and Egypt to reopen the Suez Canal the best possibility for an eventual peace settlement. They added that Jarring should not try to interfere now for fear it may upset American efforts to arrange indirect "close proximity talks." The sources said Israel would not accept Jarring as a replacement for an American diplomat as go-between in such negotiations.

Sewer Project Public Hearing Is Scheduled

LAKE KATRINE — A public hearing will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. at the M. Clifford Miller School on Fording Place Road on a Town of Ulster proposal to spend an additional $1.9 million to complete its extensive sewer project. Supervisor Carmine Sabino has urged all Town of Ulster residents to attend the public hearing, at which time facts and figures on the sewer plan will be discussed. An informational hearing was held last Thursday. Following the public hearing, the Town Board is expected to set the date for a public referendum on its request for the additional $1.9 million.

The victims were Patricia Marie Hawkins, 6, and her sister, Noreen, 7. Their mother, Mrs. Beatrice Hawkins, and the two other families living in the three-story, renovated apartment building escaped unharmed. The girls' father, Thomas, was at work in New York City at the time.

State police said the fire apparently started in the kitchen of the Hawkins' first-floor apartment, but the cause was not known.

Mrs. John Slocum, one of the occupants of the building, said she was awakened by the odor of smoke and alerted the others. A neighbor called firemen.

When the firemen arrived, one of them donned a mask and entered the building to search for the girls. He found them unconscious in their bedroom and brought them outside, but efforts to revive them failed.

The Slocum family and the family of Joseph Galarza fled safely.

The fire was on Pine Grove Road, just off Route 211.

Guilty Plea Entered in Trepass Case

KINGSTON

Charged with burglary third degree following his arrest by detectives last month, Kenneth R. Everett, 20, of Apartment 108-0, Rondout Gardens, was permitted to plead guilty Tuesday before City Judge Hubert A. Richter to a reduced charge of criminal trespass third degree.

Everett was sentenced to one year in the county jail and placed on probation for three years. Judge Richter gave the defendant a 90-day conditional discharge, thus the sentence was cut to nine months, three months being suspended.

Everett and Francis Ross Carey, 18, of 36 McEntee Street, were both accused of entering a residence at 189 West Chestnut Street on Jan. 7, when they were found inside the house, police said. Carey's case is pending in court.

Also in City Court Tuesday was the case of Paul R. Crawford, 17, of 58 St. James Street, who was arrested on Jan. 31 on two counts of burglary third degree. He was accused by authorities of burglarizing the homes of Bernard F. Redmond at 40 Dietz Court, and Clarence Buddenhagen at 109 Orchard Street.

In court, yesterday, Crawford was permitted to plead guilty to petit larceny. He was remanded to jail and will reappear before Judge Richter on March 11. At that time a report of an examination relating to narcotics is expected to be submitted and sentencing may be imposed on that day.

Crawford and three boys, two aged 14 and the other 15, allegedly participated in the two house burglaries. The cases of the juveniles were referred to Family Court, authorities noted.

January Cost of Living Rise Listed by Labor Department

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Americans' cost of living rose 0.3 per cent in January, with such things as meats and new cars costing more, the Labor Department reported today.

The department said consumers also paid more last month than in December for some services, while prices dropped for fresh vegetables, clothing, used cars and gasoline.

The January increase in the Consumer Price Index, covering a wide range of costs of products and services like medical treatment, compared with a 0.4 per cent rise in December—steepest rise in six months.

Administration economists had warned of a "price bulge" in the first few months following the end of the wage-price freeze as the economic controls program became more flexible. The 90 day wage-price freeze ended Nov. 14.

Food Prices Rise

Without adjustments for seasonal variations, the January cost of living rise was 0.1 per cent, down from 0.4 per cent in December.

Compared with prices in 1967, the January increases pushed the consumer index to 123.2, 3.4 per cent above a year ago. That meant the same retail items and services that cost $10 in 1967 would now cost $12.32.

Food prices covered by three months of economic controls President Nixon ordered on Aug. 15 rose substantially in January while fresh vegetables and eggs, which were exempt from regulation, were down sharply.

Meat prices rose considerably, verifying complaints of many consumers who have protested recently about soaring beef and pork costs.

Prices of dairy products, fresh fruits and processed fruits and vegetables were also up for the month and the Labor Department said restaurant meals and snacks were 0.2 per cent higher in January than in December.

New car prices which usually decline in January were up 1.6 per cent, reflecting increases approved by the federal Price Commission.

Prices for non-food commodities such as clothing, gasoline, and some luxuries declined 0.3 per cent, less than normal for January. Used cars were down 1.8 per cent.

Service prices were up, however, with over half the monthly increase due to higher property taxes and auto registration fees both of which are exempt from price control. Local transit fares were also up.

100th Birthday for Firm

Stamp for Ward Store

CHICAGO, ILL. The 100-year-old mail order industry founded by Aaron Montgomery Ward in 1872 will be honored by a commemorative postage stamp this year.

Postmaster General E. T. Klassen has announced the designation of the centennial of mail order retailing as a commemorative stamp theme, making the industry the first in a decade to be honored by a commemorative stamp.

Edward S. Donnell, president and chief executive officer of Montgomery Ward, following a meeting with Postmaster General Klassen said, "It seems particularly appropriate that the industry which fostered 'Satisfaction Guaranteed or Your Money Back' nearly a century ago, should be honored by our government in this time of consumer concern."

"This commemorative stamp salutes both the economic and cultural contributions made to the country by the mail order industry," Donnell said.

"Aaron Montgomery Ward had the courage and foresight to begin a business based on trust and confidence between buyer and seller in an era of caveat emptor. His 'Satisfaction Guaranteed' credo was one of the first consumer protection measures to be recognized on a nationwide basis and remains a basic merchandising philosophy today."

"The founder of our company and the mail order business embarked on the premise that American consumers, especially those living in the countryside, would purchase quality merchandise through the mail at lower prices if they were given complete information about the products and if they had trust in the seller. The past 100 years have proved Mr. Ward to be right, and Wards is continuing the tradition today," Donnell continued.

"The mail order industry and the U. S. Postal Service have had a 100-year partnership in improving service to consumers throughout the nation."

S. S. Burgio, Ward's Albany metro manager, said, "Speaking for the mail order industry, we are indebted to the excellent support rendered by many governmental officials for the issuance of the commemorative stamp."

ANNIVERSARY TIME—A century of service to American customers began with this single-sheet Montgomery Ward mail order catalog being shown to Postmaster General E. T. Klassen (R) by Montgomery Ward president Edward S. Donnell.

Four State Troopers From Area Traffic Management Graduates

ALBANY
Four Kingston area men were among a class of 30 officers who were graduated recently from the 10-week course in the science of traffic management given by the New York State Police Academy.

State Police graduates included: Zone Sgt. Donald H. Paulson, Troop F, Kingston, who resides at 36 Alan Street, Stone Ridge. Sgt. Guy M. Jenkins, Troop K, Claverack, who makes his home on Cokertown Road, Red Hook.

Members of local police departments graduating were: Deputy Walter T. Baschnagel, Ulster County Sheriff's Department, who resides at 15 Hemlock Lane, Barclay Heights, Saugerties. Patrolman Louis A. Olson, Town of New Paltz Police Department, whose home address is 249 Route 32, South New Paltz.

This is the sixth group to have completed the course which is believed to be the most intensive training program on traffic problems being offered by any police agency.

Enrollment in the course, which is federally financed and carries 12 college credits, consisted of supervisory members of the State Police and other police or related agencies.

Addressing the graduates were State Police Superintendent William E. Kirwan and Deputy Commissioner Basil Scott of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Captain William C. Lovelock of Troop G at Loudonville spoke as the class representative.

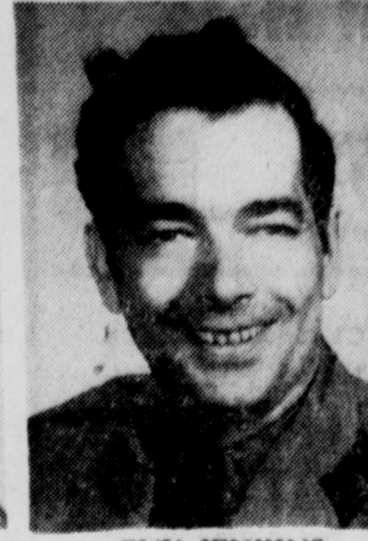

Superintendent Kirwan announced that a seventh session of the course would begin Feb. 21 with an enrollment of 31 officers.

Zone Commander Submits Report

State Police in the Zone 3 area which includes Ulster, Greene and adjacent counties investigated a total of 320 motor vehicle accidents that occurred in January, 98 of which resulted in personal injuries sustained by 181 persons, according to a monthly report compiled by Zone Commander Lieutenant William L. Shurter.

The report noted that six persons were fatally injured in highway mishaps.

Accident connected arrests for last month totaled 112, including 18 persons who were cited for driving while intoxicated following car mishaps. Fifty-three drivers were cited for drunken driving during the month, Shurter's report noted.

A total of 1,662 arrests were recorded for vehicle and traffic law violations. 234 motorists were charged with speeding as the result of radar checks and 70 others were booked for speed-transmissions over the State Police radio system. Blotter entries at stations in the zone numbered 3,766.

Operating overloaded vehicles.

Twenty-four of the traffic accidents involved deer.

During January troopers made 20 felony arrests and 88 persons were taken into custody on misdemeanor counts.

Uniformed troopers investigated 213 cases, while the Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers investigated 210 cases.

Thirty suspension and revocation orders from the Motor Vehicle department were executed.

316 posted property inspections were made, and troopers gave 42 breathalyzer tests to drivers suspected of being intoxicated.

Uniformed troopers assigned to Zone 3 patrolled 96,275 miles of highways last month, a total of 1,261 teletype messages were dispatched and there were 3,666 ing through the use of speed Police radio system. Blotter entries at stations in the zone numbered 3,766.

In his report, Lieutenant Shurter reminded car owners that the beginning of the year is a good time to check and see whether their cars are due for the annual inspection.

"Car owners should check from outside the car the sticker attached to the lower left corner of the vehicle windshield," the lieutenant said. "The numbers on the sticker runs from 1 thorough 12, each number representing a month of the year. The month your vehicle is due for inspection will have the appropriate number punched out."

Shurter noted that it is a violation of the New York State Law to operate a motor vehicle on a public highway with an expired inspection certificate.

Stringent Enforcement In New Paltz

NEW PALTZ
Town of New Paltz police officers are enforcing the sections of the state vehicle and traffic law pertaining to pedestrians on the highway and the soliciting of rides (or "hitchhiking"), according to Town of New Paltz Police Director John F. Taylor.

The sections to be stringently enforced are Sec. 1156, and Sec. 1157.

Sec. 1156 reads as follows:
A. Where sidewalks are provided and they may be used with safety, it shall be unlawful for any pedestrian to walk along and upon the adjacent roadway.

B. Where sidewalks are not provided, any pedestrian walking along and upon the highway shall, when practicable, walk only on the left side of the roadway or its shoulder facing traffic which may approach from the opposite direction. Upon the approach of any vehicle from the opposite direction, such pedestrian shall move as far to the left as practicable.

Sec. 1157 reads as follows:
No person shall stand in a roadway for the purpose of soliciting a ride.

Taylor said, "This action is being taken with the hope that a pedestrian's life or he or she will be saved the agony and pain of a serious accident."

"Of much more concern is the innocent operator of the motor vehicle . . . who suffers remorse and the 'Monday morning quarterbacking' of his own conscience," said the director.

Marbletown GOP Slates Annual Dinner

MARBLETOWN
The Marbletown Republican Club has set the date of its seventh annual dinner for April 8.

The event to be held at Williams Lake Hotel will include dinner, dancing, a guest speaker and installation of officers.

Fred Meyer is chairman; assisted by S. Robert Kelder Sr., Kenneth Smith and George Reisenaur on the general tickets; Virginia Meyer and Edith Van Aken, programs and Dorothy Kelder, publicity.

Canfield New Army Recruiter

KINGSTON Kingston Army Recruiting Station as the new station commander. Sgt. Canfield replaces Albany Recruiting area.

Salapatis Retires From Air Force

KINGSTON John C. Salapatis of 25 Harding Avenue recently retired from the U.S. Air Force after completing 29 years of service of which more than 10 1/2 years were spent on active duty. Salapatis, who retired with the rank of lieutenant colonel, is employed by the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation as a project engineer in the development of outdoor recreational facilities for the Catskill Park Preserve. Col. Salapatis served during World War II as an aerial navigator with the 96th Bombardment Group, 8th Air Force stationed in England, and flew 35 bombardment missions. During the Korean Conflict, he served as both aerial navigator and aerial weather reconnaissance officer with the 56th Strategic Reconnaissance Squadron, stationed in Japan. The recent air force retiree flew more than 120 long range weather reconnaissance missions of which 53 were classified as combat missions over the China and Yellow Seas and North Korea. Six flights were typhoon-tracking and penetration missions. Col. Salapatis is a graduate of the U.S. Air Force School of Aerial Navigation, the Air Force School of Advanced Aerial Navigation and the Air Force School of Meteorology. He also has completed courses at the Air Force Command and Staff College, Advanced Weather Techniques and Radiological Warfare. A native of New York City, Salapatis holds many service awards including the Air Medal with eight oak leaf clusters, American - European - Middle East Theater medal with five battle stars, the American Theater Medal and the Occupation Medal of Japan. His other decorations include the World War II Victory Medal, National Defense Medal, Korean Service medal with seven battle stars, the UN Medal, the Air Force Reserve medal with hour glass clasp and the New York State Silver Cross for most conspicuous service.

Col. Salapatis, who is married to the former Lillian W. Jones and the parents of a married son, John II, attended public schools in New York City and attended the College of City of New York where he majored in civil engineering.

The new local army recruiting commander arrived in Kingston about the first of the month after completing the Army Recruiting Career Counseling Course at Fort Benjamin Harrison in Indiana. He was the distinguished graduate of his class, including 50 non-commissioned officers. Sgt. Canfield, in addition to his two tours in Southeast Asia, also has been assigned on two occasions to duty in Germany. He has been decorated with a Bronze Star, the Army Commendation Medal in addition to other awards and ribbons. He holds the Vietnamese Signal Corps insignia which he won for his participation in advancing the training in the Vietnamese Army Signal School. While assigned to Vietnam, Sgt. Canfield took part in organizing and instructing in a special course for Vietnamese soldiers, training them to take over the Strategic Microwave systems equipment formerly used by American personnel. The equipment will remain in Vietnam after the U.S. withdrawal. He was formerly a senior instructor of the Strategic Microwave Systems Repairman course at Fort Monmouth, N.J., where he instructed new soldiers on the operation and repair of multichannel telecommunications equipment. He achieved special recognition from the commanding general of the U.S. Army Signal School for his excellence in the performance of duty as an instructor. Sgt. Canfield now resides in Milton with his wife, Norma and three children, Lloyd Jr., Micheline and Joy.

DAVID LIEBERGOT CHRIS MARKUNAS

An Award for Airman, Marine Home on Leave

FORT MEADE, MD. U.S. Air Force Staff Sergeant David E. Liebergot, son of Mrs. Josephine Youmans of 107 Franklin St., Kingston, has received his second award of the Air Medal for action while assigned at Tan Son Nhut AB, Vietnam. Sergeant Liebergot, an intelligence technician, was decorated for his outstanding airmanship and courage on successful and important missions completed under hazardous conditions. He was honored during ceremonies at Ft. George G. Meade, Md., where he now serves with an Air Force support unit. The sergeant attended Saurter High School and the University of Maryland. His wife is the former Sandra Davidson from England. Lance Corporal Chris Markunas son of Mr. and Mrs. George Markunas of RD 2 Saurter, is presently home on leave for 30 days and will be with the Marine Corps Recruiting Office, Broadway and Maiden Lane during his leave. Lance Corporal Markunas graduated from Saurter High School and enlisted in the Marine Corps in December 1970, after completion of Recruit Training attended Communications School in San Diego, Calif. While undergoing recruit training he showed outstanding leadership abilities for which he was meritoriously promoted to private first class.

Alfred Rose Named Chairman Of Jewish Welfare Fund Drive

KINGSTON The Kingston Jewish Community Council has named Alfred Rose, a partner in Spiesman's Bakery, general chairman of the 1972 Kingston United Jewish Welfare Fund drive, according to Ephraim Propp, the council's president. Rose served as co-chairman last year. Former president of the Jewish Community Center, and active on the United Way Drive, he presently serves on the board of directors of the JCC and Congregation Ahavath Israel. Rose pointed out that the recent influx of Soviet Jews into Israel had placed an additional burden on the drive. The fund not only supports the United Jewish Appeal, which aids Israel with its welfare problems, but also supports local Jewish services including the Kingston Jewish Community Council and many national Jewish philanthropic organizations. This year's campaign will begin with a cocktail party which will be hosted by Mrs. Martin Weinberger Sunday, March 19.

Natural Food Menu Available

RHINEBECK established routine of the hospital," explained Mazzarella. "In our hospital we try, in as many ways as we can, to adapt the hospital routine to the patient. Several weeks ago it was brought to my attention that some patients were having their meals brought in since they ate only organic food," he noted.

"Obviously we cannot allow each patient to choose and regulate his own diet, so we decided to add natural foods to our menu," he stated.

This task of coming up with a nutritionally sound natural foods diet was given to the Dietary Department. According to a department spokesman natural food, as any other kind, must be well-balanced to be of benefit to the user.

Natural foods, simply defined as those foods grown and prepared without chemical or other artificial additives, are not necessarily better than a well-balanced diet of the basic four: meat, fruits, vegetables, and whole grain products, according to that department.

But they cautioned, "There are far too many people in this country who are nutritional wrecks from eating good food, natural or otherwise, in improper amounts."

A hospital spokesman cautioned that the cost of natural foods, discovered during research for the menus, is very high in relation to the regular diet.

A quick scan of five different menus the hospital has prepared does not readily reveal great differences. There is chicken and fish, fresh fruit and juices, rice and whole grain breads, puddings, pies and ice cream.

And some unusual offerings: steel cut oatmeal, artichoke noodles or fig juice.

In the case of natural food diets, there are cookbooks available to help the kitchen crew prepare the new meals.

Heart Chapter Sets Play

POUGHKEEPSIE struggle for rehabilitation on his wife, family, and employer.

An audience participation discussion period, designed as an extension of the drama, will immediately follow the play.

First presented at the National Congress on Stroke held in Chicago during Oct. 1964, the play was written by Stephan Chodorov and produced for the Vocational Rehabilitation Administration, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, by Plays for Living, a division of the Family Service Association of America.

Scouts Now Part of Larger Regional Setup

KINGSTON

Local Scout leaders learned today that the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be served through a new organizational structure adopted by the BSA's Executive Board.

Council President Richard Dillon announced that the local council will no longer report to Region 2 in Greenvillage, N.J. The former 12-region structure has been reduced to six regions, and the Rip Van Winkle Council is now a part of a larger region with headquarters in North Brunswick, N.J.

As council president, Dillon will be a member of the new regional committee which will be responsible for Cub Scouting, Scouting, and Exploring in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

A special committee has been appointed to serve as a nominating committee for new regional officers to be elected at the National Council Annual Meeting to be held in Los Angeles from May 17 to 19 which will be attended by Arthur Betz and Charles Carr.

Dillon explained that the new six region plan will offer more effective direction and assistance to the Rip Van Winkle Council and should result in financial savings to the national organization.

"After several years of study, five volunteer task forces were appointed last year to recommend a more effective regional volunteer and professional structure that would provide national service in an area closer to the local council, he said. "The new plan which resulted from the work of the task forces has as its principal objective to serve the increasing number of BSA members with a program of quality."

Taylor Heads Member Drive

Malcolm A. Taylor of New Paltz has been named chairman of the Sustaining Membership Enrollment Campaign for the Minnewaska Trails District of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America by Jeffrey Sander the Ulster and Greene Counties Chairman.

Taylor attended schools in Poughkeepsie and Syracuse University and is employed by IBM in Kingston as a Systems Analyst in the Laboratory Data Processing Center.

His Scouting background is long and varied. He has been a Neighborhood Commissioner, chairman of the District Organization and Extension Committee, chairman of the Minnewaska Trails District, member of the Council Executive Board, committee chairman of Pack 172 and a committee member of Explorer Post 172 both in New Paltz.

The Membership Enrollment Campaign will include the communities of New Paltz, Highland, Milton, Marlboro, Plattekill, Clintonville, Walkkill, Gardiner, Tillson, Rosendale, Bloomington, Stone Ridge High Falls, Accord, Kerhonkson, Nanapanoch and Ellenville.

The goal of the campaign is to raise $10,000 to support Scouting in this District by the enrollment of the many "Friends of Scouting." A pre-campaign letter has already been mailed to these "Friends" in the hope that they will renew their membership for 1972.

Those that do not respond by mail March 1, will be contacted in person on March 4 by any one of 250 enrollers that will be working throughout the District on that Saturday morning.

The Minnewaska District, which is actually the Southern half of Ulster County, furnishes Scouting for over 1,600 boys and leaders as well as the use of a 550 acre camp in the heart of the Catskills.

Tillson Post Honor Court

Boy Scout Troop 17, Tillson, sponsored by the American Legion Post 1219, held a Court of Honor Feb. 8.

After the Color Guard presented the colors the invocation was given by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Harold Hicks of St. Peter's Church, Rosendale. Senior Patrol Leader John William Lenz held opening ceremonies and presented the Court. Guest speakers were O. Fuller Walker, district commissioner who presented the Troop Charter to Harold Theiss, institutional representative and Roland Ellis, assistant scoutmaster Troop 172, who gave a slide presentation on Camp Tri-Mount, the summer camp of the Rip Van Winkle Council.

Drug Abuse

REACH to ### Start in March

Operation REACH, an action project related to Drug Abuse Prevention, will be launched in the Ulster Greene County Scout Council during March, according to Richard Dillon, President of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Ward Todd, local newscaster, was named to head a committee to administer the program. "Operation REACH" is a promising new and positive approach to drug abuse prevention developed by the National Boy Scouts of America, Todd explained. He and seven other leaders and young men from Ulster and Greene Counties took part in a training program at Newark, N.J., in November. The course provided a training guide that with a committee could implement here in Kingston.

The Council leaders are now scheduling training sessions for Council and District Scouters who in turn will provide training for Senior Patrol Leaders and Scoutmasters and Explorer Presidents and their advisors.

Other members of the Council Scout team are Charles F. Carr, Scout Executive and Staff Advisor, Thomas Maggs and Alan Ford, District Advisors, John Vliet of Catskill, Michael Dunnigan an Eagle Scout from Highland and George Cole, Chairman of the Activities Committee of Explorer Post 12. During March, April and May the meetings will be conducted in each of the Troops and Posts for the young adults, their parents and their Leaders. This program involves all three groups, Scouts, parents and the leaders of the Scouts.

The purpose of the program is to give youth their parents and their leaders reliable information about drugs and drug abuse and to encourage young people to take a stand against drugs, to help each other find wholesome alternatives and to show the three groups how they must cooperate in order for the program to work.

"This is not a drug cure program, Todd explained, "it is a program to help young people to choose an alternate course. Showing them that drugs will not solve any of their problems."

Area Scout News

Katrine Cubs Have Olympics Of Their Own

LAKE KATRINE The Cubs of Pack 10 held a small version of the Olympics at their January meeting at the Lake Katrine School. Each Den was represented by its champion in each event, and cups were awarded to the victors. Winners were Steve Patton, who managed 226 sit-ups to nose out Ricky Miller's 225; Kirk Jacob, whose running long jump of 7 feet 6 inches topped runnerup Patrick McCooey's 6 feet 5 inches; and Ricky Miller, whose standing long jump of 5 feet 3 inches beat out several Cubs who had jumped 5 feet 2 inches.

The contests were part of the monthly theme of "feats of skill." Cubs of Den 3, under the direction of Den Mother Gail Levy, began the meeting by leading the contestants in the sportsmanship pledge and the pledge of allegiance. Cubs of Den 4, guided by Den Mother Marion Clarke, closed the meeting with a salute to physical fitness.

Lou Shotten, a visitor from England, spoke to the Cubs about his hobby of stamp collecting. He told of the different types of collecting, and educated the Cubs as to the best ways of handling a collection.

Glass, Paper Drives Successful...Others Are Planned

KINGSTON
Ulster County's volunteer ecologists collected 41 tons of newspapers and magazines and 15.5 tons of glass during the two recent recycling drives.

Meanwhile, plans are underway to conduct simultaneous glass and paper recycling drives in early April.

According to Mrs. Richard Kobran, chairman of the Environmental Task Force, 65 barrels of smashed glass were transported from the New York State Armory in Kingston to the Coca Cola Bottling Co. in Newburgh, where they were melted and re-cast.

According to George McCadden, chairman of the Ecology Committee of the Ontario Lions Club, 41 tons of newspapers were recycled last weekend.

The Environmental Task Force, the combined Conservation Commissions of Marletown and Rochester and the Kingston Service Battery of the Army National Guard spearheaded the glass recycling drive, which was Ulster County's first. Also participating were the Hudson and Kingston Lions Clubs, girl scouts and volunteers from the School.

Saugerties Youth Center, the Town of Esopus Environmental Conservation Commission, highway department personnel from the towns of Olive and Plattekill and sixth grade students at Kingston's George Washington School.

Ertel Engineering Corp., of Kingston, local Hertz and Rider facilities and Schaller's Automotive donated equipment to the glass drive.

Mrs. Kobran has announced a National Guard commitment to continue to assist volunteers in future drives.

The recent newspaper recycling drive collected an estimated 41 tons of paper and magazines. Depots were established at points throughout the county.

Preliminary plans have been announced to conduct a newspaper and glassware recycling drive April 8 and 9. Depots are expected to be set up in various parts of the county. Further details will be announced later.

Environment Not the Only Beneficiary

WOODSTOCK

Not only the environment was the beneficiary of the recent glassware recycling drive conducted throughout Ulster County.

The Ontario Lions Club in Woodstock shipped an estimated 6,000 pounds of bottles to the Sheltered Workshop of the Association for Retarded Children in Hudson recently. The Lions Club contribution helped to provide meaningful employment to the 53 retarded adults at the Workshop.

The retarded adults at the workshop remove metal rings and corks from the bottles, separate them by color, and then smash the glass. They receive a modest hourly income for the work they do, and are sometimes paid on a piece-work basis.

The Workshop also accepts magazines, newspapers and cardboard cartons, which are separated and processed for recycling by the retarded adults.

The Ontario Lions Club has announced that it has set aside several large containers at the town landfill site where residents may discard used bottles. The glassware will be transported to the Hudson facility on a regular basis.

The Lions Club is not paid for the bottles it sends to the Workshop.

The Sheltered Workshop is an experimental program funded by New York State, Columbia County and the 200 members of the Columbia County Chapter of the New York State Association for Retarded Children.

Construction Plans Are Available

KINGSTON

Construction plans for a free-standing building which could be erected at various landfill sites for the purpose of storing newspapers and glassware for recycling drives are now available to governmental units free of charge.

Ulster County Temporary Manpower Council Administrator Robert C. Randall in his announcement said all supervisors of the 20 townships and mayors of the City of Kingston and the five incorporated villages have been notified that the plans are available from his office in the County Office Building.

He noted the Manpower Council which is currently operating an environmental improvement program throughout the county, made the free offer to encourage cooperation in the various recycling drives.

The plans call for construction of a wooden frame structure 13 by 16 feet and eight feet high. Randall said materials needed for construction cost approximately $550. An Emergency Employment Act of the Manpower Council will construct the buildings on the landfill site if the governmental unit provides the materials, Randall said.

Those governmental units interested in the proposal should contact Randall's office for further information.

The construction plans were drawn by students in the vocational education training program at the Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES).

Nixon's Talks With Mao, Chou May Decide Presidential Race

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Nikita S. Khrushchev boasted that he kept Richard M. Nixon out of the White House in 1961. That may not have been true. However, this is again a presidential election year, and people are going to be wondering whether President Nixon's trips to Peking and Moscow will have any particular impact on the November voting.

The answer may depend on what develops from the President's talks with Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai, and then in May with their archrivals the Soviet leaders.

In memoirs attributed to him and published under the title "Khrushchev Remembers," the former Soviet Premier recalled that six months before the 1960 elections the United States was jolted by the news that the Russians had shot down a U2 spy plane and imprisoned the pilot. The incident blew apart Khrushchev's summit meeting with President Dwight D. Eisenhower before it could start. In 1961 Eisenhower's successor, John F. Kennedy, met with Khrushchev at Vienna. The Khrushchev book says he told Kennedy that the Soviet Union cast "the deciding ballot" when Kennedy defeated Nixon. The account adds: "I explained that by waiting to release U2 pilot Gary Powers until after the American election we kept Nixon from being able to claim that he could deal with the Russians. Our policy made the difference of at least a half million votes, which gave Kennedy the edge he needed."

Nixon was vice president in the Eisenhower administration. Khrushchev's calculation was of course, highly debatable. Even if Mao and Chou have no particular preference in the 1972 election, they must know that their actions have a sizable political wallop in the West—whether for Nixon or against him.

President Harry S. Truman was re-elected in 1948 while the Russians had West Berlin under blockade. Stalin had brought the cold war to the point of a major threat to world peace. Was that a factor in Truman's margin?

In 1952 Eisenhower promised that if elected he would go to Korea and end the bloodshed between the Communists and U.N. forces. Was that a decisive factor at a time when the American nation was bone-tired of war and killing?

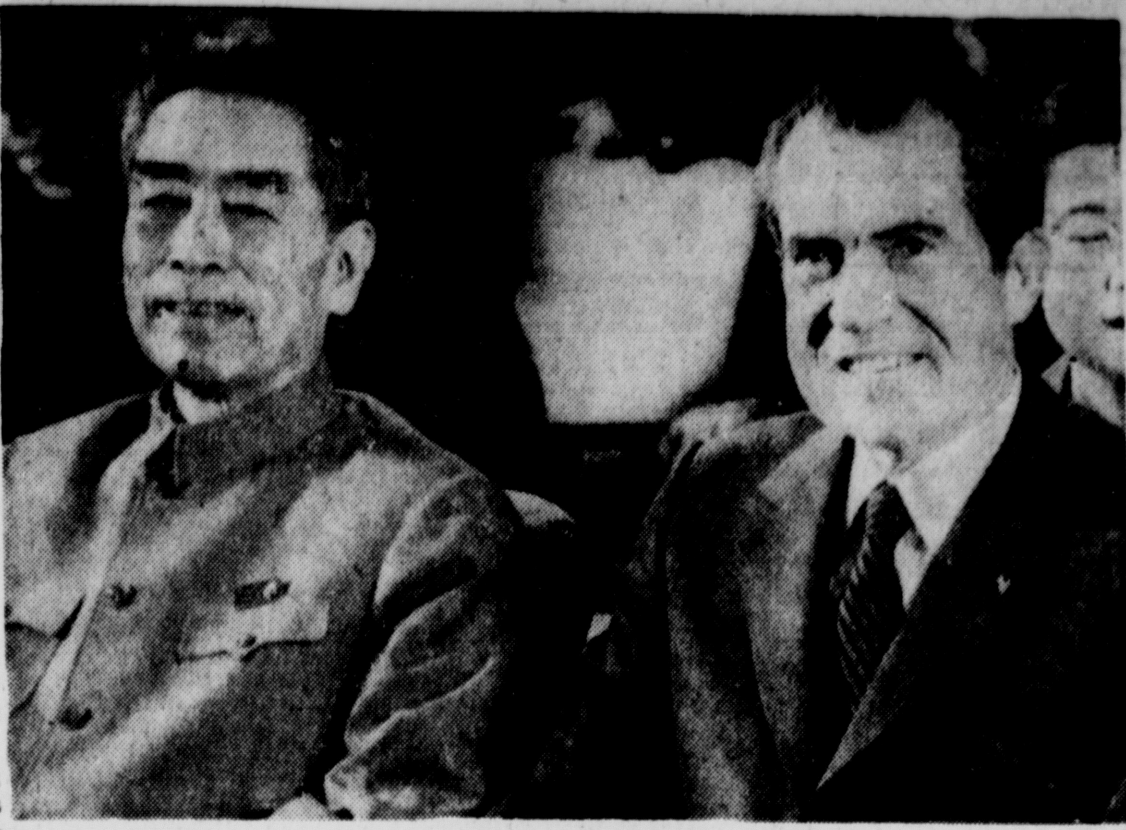

By opening the door to what appears to be a reconciliation with the United States, after 22 years of deep and ominous hostility, Mao and Chou might be said to have cast Nixon in the role of peacemaker. Once again, this is a time when much of the American public seems weary of war in Asia. It is again a year in which the word "peace" can have a role in the balloting.

Yet it could be argued that the Mao-Chou role and the roles of the Soviet leaders in Maying the work against the President if, by November, voters discerned no improvement in the world picture.

There seems little doubt that the actions of other nations sometimes influence U.S. voting. The trick is to measure the influence.

Chinese Masses Aware Of Chairman Mao's Thoughts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The thoughts of Chairman Mao Tse-tung have become the bible and life guide of the Chinese masses.

Lin Biao, Mao's heir apparent until his recent fall from grace and the chief popularizer of the chairman's thoughts, wrote an introduction to the 1968 edition of the famous Little Red Book.

He said the Chinese Communist party's "most fundamental task" was to "hold high the great red banner of Mao Tse-tung's thought, to arm the minds of the people throughout the country with it and to persist in using it to command every field of activity."

Here are some of Mao's thoughts:

Imperialism will not last long because it does evil things. (1958)

As for the imperialist countries, we should unite with their peoples and strive to coexist peacefully with those countries, do business with them and prevent any possible war, but under no circumstances should we harbor any unrealistic notions about them. (1957)

The enemy will not perish of himself. Neither the Chinese reactionaries nor the aggressive forces of U.S. imperialism in China will step down from the stage of history of their own accord. (1948)

Among the whites in the United States it is only the reactionary ruling circles who oppress the black people. They can in no way represent the workers, farmers, revolutionary intellectuals and other enlightened persons who comprise the overwhelming majority of the white people. (1963)

We Communists are like seeds and the people are like the soil. Wherever we go, we must unite with the people, take root and blossom among them (1945)

What we need is an enthusiastic but calm state of mind and intense but orderly work. (1936)

Nixons Enjoy Revolutionary Chinese Ballet

PEKING (UPI)—The revolutionary Chinese ballet performed for President and Mrs. Nixon, "The Red Detachment of Women," was a highly professional, intensely dramatic, smooth flowing performance.

The Nixons capped a busy day by attending the two-hour ballet with Premier Chou En-lai. A translator sat between them to explain the action on the stage, and the Nixons appeared to enjoy a performance that drew tremendous applause from an enthusiastic crowd at the Great Hall of the People.

At first the stage was barren save for the small cast which danced in a thin shaft of spotlight that changed from red to blue to white. Scenery and props entered the act in what might be interpreted as the second act.

The dancing was graphic and highly melodramatic. The dancers performed to fast, exciting, symphonic music. Not only were the actions of the ballet portrayed in body movements, but in the changing expressions of the dancers.

Thrift should be the guiding principle in our government expenditure. (1934)

Our principle is that the party commands the gun, and the gun must never be allowed to command the party. (1938)

Political power grows out of the barrel of the gun. (1938)

A revolution is not a dinner party, or writing an essay, or painting a picture, or doing embroidery; it cannot be so refined, so leisurely and gentle, so temperate, kind, courteous, restrained and magnanimous.

A revolution is an insurrection, an act of violence by which one class overthrows another. (1927)

The Socialist system will eventually replace the capitalist system; this is an objective law independent of man's will. However much the reactionaries try to hold back the wheel of history, sooner or later revolution will take place and will inevitably triumph. (1957)

Men and women must receive equal pay for equal work in production. (1955)

Successful Campaign For March of Dimes

A successful fund raising campaign for the March of Dimes, National Foundation, has just been concluded in the Saugerties area under the auspices of the American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 72, of Lamoree-Hackett Post. A check for $1,293.17 was turned over to Addison Jones of Kingston on Thursday evening by Mrs. Evelyn Carnright, president of Unit 72, prior to the monthly meeting. This total included a donation of $100.38 from Mr. and Mrs. Paul Barca of Paul's Shell Station on Barclay Heights which represented a day's profit on the sale of gasoline. Another large donation came from Mr. and Mrs. Glen Genthner, proprietors of The Corner Bakery, Partition Street, who turned over the coins collected in the icing of a special cake displayed in their window during the campaign and to which customers and friends filled to overflowing increasing the funds by $42.93. Both donors have been contributing to this campaign for many years. Many young people and adults not connected with the auxiliary volunteered their time and effort and must be commended for their help. Mrs. Jacqueline Rea and Mrs. Rita Sachs were co-chairmen of the drive.

Paul Whitaker, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Whitaker of Veteran was this year's Poster Child for the Saugerties Campaign and the auxiliary unanimously voted at the meeting to present him with a U.S. Bond in appreciation. Paul is a seventh grade student at the Saugerties High School and receives aid from the National Foundation proceeds because of a birth defect. Also at this meeting it was decided to again send a young high school girl to the Empire Girls State meeting to be held in Albany in June. Miss Charlotte Bell was appointed as chairman of this project and will report on the details at the next meeting on March 9.

Other reports given were by Mrs. Catherine VanGaasbeek, membership chairman, a total of 91 paid-up members; Mrs. Agnes Schaffer, rehabilitation chairman, 7886 tea bag tags and 1232 canceled stamps; Mrs. Margaret Kerbert, National Security chairman, nine bonds purchased for the month; Mrs. Beverly Freer, Community Service, 19 hours from five members who represented the unit at the County Oratorical Contest at February 6 by presenting the Color Guard and ushers.

Mrs. Elaine Genthner, Child Welfare chairman, reported clothing totaling $50 was donated for aid to 14 children; Mrs. Ann Johnson, chaplain, announced that checks had been sent to two hospitalized veterans and one hospital bed had been loaned to another who recently returned home from the hospital.

A recommendation by Mrs. Rita Sachs, chairman of Constitution and By-Laws, was made towards the resumption of keeping holidays on the true dates rather than changing them to make a long week-end. The unit was in favor of writing letters to the representatives in Albany and Washington to this effect.

LIZ SHAW, well known for her appearances at the Waldorf Astoria, Town Hall and Carnegie Hall, as well as for her appearances locally at Temple Cabaret and Temple Couples Club, will entertain Saturday, March 4 at Purim Ball on her Wurlitzer Orbit No. III Synthesizer Organ. Sponsored by Kingston Jewish Community Council, the gala event will be held at Congregation Ahavath Israel, 100 Lucas Avenue, Kingston. A highlight of the evening will be the selection of Queen Esther. There will also be other categories for costumes. Refreshments will be served. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Sweet Adelines Soliciting New Members to Join in Song

THE SWEET ADELINES are soliciting new members, specifically from the northern Dutchess area, and invite interested women to join in song.

They ask prospective members to come to Poughkeepsie any Tuesday at 8 p.m. to attend the rehearsal of Southern Dutchess Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc. Rehearsals are open to any women interested in singing barbershop harmony and enjoying themselves.

Although the chapter name implies that only women from Southern Dutchess are members, there are several from the northern part of the county and from the New Paltz area.

It is one of about 500 chapters located throughout the United States, Hawaii and Canada, with a total membership of about 20,000.

Concert Friday

The Beacon Branch of Hudson Valley Opportunities Industrialization Center, Inc. is putting the finishing touches on the concert to be held Friday at the Star of Bethlehem Church on Main Street in Beacon.

The concert is the opening event for the annual HVOIC fund raising and will feature the Community Choir of Beacon, pianist Lucille Bailey and pianist Rubin Watson. Rubin Watson is an 11 year old boy who has already become an accomplished musician.

Tickets for the concert may be purchased at HVOIC office, 54 North Hamilton Street, Poughkeepsie.

The concert will get under way at 8 p.m. There are no reserved seats.

The Rev. Garfield Farley is chairman of the Beacon concert.

Film Presentation

"The Learning Tree," photographer Gordon Park's first film, will be shown at Bennett College, Millbrook, on Friday. Sponsored by the Student Activities Committee, it will be shown in Mattheison-Kennedy Auditorium beginning at 8 p.m. The film, which is in color, is based on Mr. Park's own experience as a poor black growing up in Kansas City.

Social Workers Institute Planned at Vassar College

"Senior Citizens — The Slighted Generation" is the title of a workshop which will be presented at the Eleventh Annual Institute of the Hudson Valley Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers (NASW). The Institute will take place on Thursday, March 23, 1972 at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Henrietta Coombs, Executive Director of the Dutchess County Association for Senior Citizens, will serve as moderator of the workshop. Mrs. Coombs, a graduate of Vassar College, is on the Board of Directors of the Dutchess Senior Citizens Housing Corporation, and is a member of Region III pre-White House Conference Committee. She is also a member of the Steering Committee for regional Council of Senior Citizens the training committee of the Dutchess County Tel-Care.

On the panel will be R. Eugene Curry, former Executive Director of the Miriam Osborn Memorial Home in Rye, N.Y. Mr. Curry who received Masters Degrees from Harvard University and Princeton, is currently Adjunct Professor of Economics, New York University. He is also Chairman, Citizen Committee on Aging and the Chronically Ill, and member of the Board of Directors, Westchester Council of Social Agencies, Inc. He was a delegate to the 1971 White House Conference on Aging. He will focus his discussion in the area of housing of the senior citizens — i.e. living alone, living with family, living in institutions. Discussing Leisure Time Activity will be Mrs. Henrietta F. Rabe, Executive Secretary of the State Recreational Council for the Elderly, and an Associate in Continuing Education, State Education Department, Division of Continuing Education, State Education Department, Division of Continuing Education. Mrs. Rabe received B.S. and M.A. degrees from Columbia Teachers College. A third panelist will be Daniel Sambol, the Associate Executive Director for Health Planning, Westchester Council of Social Agencies. He is Secretary of the Citizens Committee on Aging and the Chronically Ill and was a delegate to the 1971 White House Conference on Aging. Mr. Sambol, who received an M.A. degree from Adelphi, will focus on "Social Workers and the Aging." Discussion will follow the presentations.

The Institute is being chaired by Bill L. Denton, MSW, Supervisor of Treatment Facility, Greer Children's Community, Hope Farm, and social worker employed part time at the Family Counseling Service of Dutchess County. The keynote address, to be given by Dr. Frank Riessman, Professor of Educational Sociology, Director of the New Careers Development Center, N.Y.U., will focus on the general theme: REVOLUTIONS: THE SOCIAL WORK RESPONSE. Ten afternoon workshops will take place. Registration is open to all interested persons, professionals and volunteers, in the nine county Hudson Valley Area. Further information is available from Mr. Denton, Box 237, Amenia, New York, 12501.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
DEAR MRS. POST:

My aunt and uncle and family moved to our neighborhood.

We have a niece in another family who is forever stirring things up and causing trouble. She's forty years old — not a child. Two days after the family moved here, she decided to call on them at 11:30 p.m.

The aunt had already gone to bed — the children were around the house, and then she left. Mrs. Post, she caused such a rumpus! She was very much insulted because the aunt didn't get out of bed to greet her.

Some of the family say the aunt should have gotten up, others say she should have apologized for not getting up. How would you settle the pros and cons?

MRS. E.

DEAR MRS. E.: I cannot imagine anyone calling unannounced at 11:30 p.m. Frankly, I think it is the niece who should do the apologizing. The teenagers did the right thing by being cordial and showing the visitor around, and in not waking their mother. At that hour, a firm "Sorry, but Mother's asleep" is well within the realm of courtesy.

In the interests of family harmony, your aunt should have invited the niece over again, saying she was sorry not to have seen her the other time — but without apologies!

DEAR MRS. POST:

Our daughter wants to be married at home with only family and a few close friends present. There will be a large reception at our club two hours later. Should I serve anything to the guests after the ceremony?

DEAR MRS. CARLSON:

Since there will not be a long period between the wedding and the reception, there is no need to serve refreshments to those who live nearby. However, if there are out-of-town guests who have no place to go, it would be thoughtful to offer them a cup of coffee, or a cold drink if it is summertime. It is not necessary to do any more than that.

To make your wedding day the happy, memorable occasion you want it to be, my booklet "Your Guide to Formal Wedding Procedure" is just what you need. To get a copy, send thirty-five cents in coins to cover booklet and mailing expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper.

Musical, 'The Fantasticks,' at Mt. St. Mary College

America's longest-running musical comedy, "The Fantasticks", will be presented by the Mounty Saint Mary College Cultural Centre, Newburgh, at 8:15 p.m., Saturday, in the College Theatre.

The show deals with a young man and the girl next door, whose parents have built a wall to keep them apart. The youngsters nevertheless contrive to meet and fall in love. Their parents, meanwhile, are congratulating themselves, for they have erected the wall and staged a feud in order to achieve, by negation, a marriage between their willfully disobedient children. The parents hire a desperado who pretends to fall before the onslaught of the young man. Unfortunately, however, the children detect this ruse and they part, each determined to see life as it really is.

After their moon-struck escapades, the reality of sunlight shows the boy the harshness of the world and lets the girl see that love can be false. Only then do they come to understand each other and learn to build their lives on a more solid basis than moonlit raptures.

Many songs from the show with their pretty tunes and clever lyrics have become popular favorites over the past decade. These include the haunting ballad "Try to Remember," "Soon It's Gonna Rain," "Round and Round," and "They Were You".

"The Fantasticks" was first produced off-Broadway in 1960 in the 135-seat Sullivan Street Playhouse and within a year was running in theaters all over the world. It was the culmination of several years work by Tom Jones, who wrote the book and lyrics, and Harvey Schmidt, who provided the score. The two who had become friends while students at the University of Texas, started with a little-known harlequinade by Edmond Rostand and came up with the plot for "The Fantasticks".

"The Fantasticks", produced by On-The-Aisle Productions, is partially funded by a grant from the New York State Council on the Arts to the Cultural Centre. Tickets may be obtained by calling Mount Saint Mary College Cultural Centre, Newburgh.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Charges Dropped, But He Still Pays

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Five years ago, when he was a senior in high school, my brother Billy was arrested in a police raid on a house where a group of kids were smoking marijuana and using LSD. Billy wasn't using any, but the police took everybody in and booked them. Only two of the kids were convicted, and charges were dropped against the rest, including my brother.

Billy graduated from college last June with very good grades, but he can't get a job because all the forms he has had to fill out specifically ask if he's ever been arrested, and when he has put down "Yes," and why, he was passed over. Once he didn't put down yes, was hired, and a month later they let him go because they found out he had been arrested that one time.

Billy is so disgusted he doesn't know what to do. He went to a lawyer to see if that one arrest could be wiped off his record, and the lawyer told him that in this state they couldn't do it. He said that all he could do was write the legislators to try to get the law changed.

Isn't it cruel for something like this to happen to a nice kid? The law presumes you to be innocent until found guilty, but everyone thinks if someone is arrested he's a poor risk for employment, and since there are about 10 people for every job these days, they'll hire the one who hasn't been in any kind of trouble. Don't you think this is unfair? And have you any advice for Billy?

BILLY'S SISTER
DEAR SISTER: If Billy was only "booked" and not charged after the drug raid, was not a user or in possession of drugs, it is certainly unfair to use such a "record" against him.

But fair, or unfair, when illegal drugs appear on the scene, I would advise any individual to promptly leave the scene.

DEAR ABBY: My heart beat a little faster when I read that letter in your column from the divorced woman who was still in love with a wonderful Marine she hadn't seen since 1944.

You told her to try to locate him, and if he was also single and felt the same way about her, maybe they could pick up where they left off. That was good advice.

I hope she finds him. And I hope he's single, and I hope they get together again.

Would you believe I found my wonderful gal again after a silence of 50 years? Sign me, LUCKY IN ELGIN, ILL.

DEAR LUCKY: Thanks for your encouraging testimony. It's only "too late" for those who think it is.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please help settle an argument between my husband and me?

We were invited to dinner at the home of some new friends, and after dinner it was suggested that we play cards, which we did.

After the game started our hostess brought a book to the table and proceeded to read while playing cards. Most of the time she was so absorbed in the book she nearly forgot about the card game.

After we got home, my husband said she was the rudest woman he had ever met, that she might just as well have told us to go home the way she read that book in our faces all evening. He also said if they ever invite us back he will refuse to go.

Abby, I agree, she wasn't polite, but I can understand how she could have started a book and become so fascinated with it she could hardly wait to get back to it, so I really don't hold it against her.

Do you agree with my husband that we shouldn't go back there again? I really like this woman.

OUTPLAYED IN DETROIT
DEAR OUTPLAYED: If you "like" her, see her on your own time. I agree with your husband.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Rock Lobster Pilau Needs Knowing

Many ethnic groups fry rice. The Chinese do, of course, and so do the French and the Persians and the Turks. Across the globe, people call it pilaf, or pilaw, or pilau, or simply fried rice.

All those people can't be wrong. By frying rice, they add a new dimension to a bland cereal. Especially is this so when the fried rice is combined with meat and vegetables and seasoned with whatever exotic (or simple) spices are indigenous to the neighborhood.

In American creole cookery pilau is a wonderfully interesting dish. The fat for frying is from bacon, which gives a native and very popular flavor; the vegetables are ones everybody is familiar with; the seasonings blend to our taste.

Since Americans are now taking the best from every culinary culture however, it's not surprising that to our basic pilau should be added the meat of rock lobster tails from another continent. What a combination bacon flavor is with South African rock lobster. Some people feel it wouldn't be at all surprising if Bacon 'N Tails should become almost as popular as Steak 'N Tails in fancy restaurants. The flavors are that complimentary.

South African Pilau is an easily prepared entree that can do for a family dinner, an in-law celebration, or a lovely buffet dish for entertaining. Any which way it's delightful.

South African Pilau

Three pkgs. (eight oz. ea.) South African rock lobster tails
Four slices bacon, chopped
One and one-half cups converted rice
One-quarter cup butter
One small onion, chopped
One small green pepper, chopped
One cup chopped celery
Four cups chicken broth, about
One teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt and cayenne
Drop frozen rock lobster tails into boiling salted water. When water reboils, boil for one minute. Drain and drench with cold water. With scissors remove underside membrane. Remove meat and cut into one-half inch slices. Fry bacon in large skillet until crisp. Remove crisp pieces. Sauté rice in bacon drippings until golden brown. Add butter. Add onion, green pepper and celery and sauté until soft. Stir in chicken broth and Worcestershire sauce. Cover and simmer, stirring occasionally until rice is tender. It may be necessary to add more chicken broth from time to time to prevent sticking. Add rock lobster pieces and simmer another 5 minutes. Add salt and cayenne to taste. Sprinkle with reserved crisp bacon pieces. Yield Six servings.

Tuna 'Everything' Loaf Makes Every Dollar Count

For some people, the name of the cookery game these days is "natural" foods. They are "into" recipes that bring to the table the goodness of whole grains, nuts and seeds, and properly cooked bounty from the garden.

But good as these foods are, they need an assist from cooks to provide the complete protein that's required for main dishes — whether served at breakfast, lunch or dinner.

One of the easiest and thriftiest ways to include complete protein in vegetable dishes is with canned tuna in vegetable oil. Tuna not only is lower priced, per edible portion, it is lower in cholesterol and lower in calories than lean red meat. And it is comparable in all-important complete protein, as well as eating satisfaction.

When it comes to convenience and variety of instant uses, canned tuna is almost unbeatable. To give you an idea of how well tuna fits into the back-to-nature concept of cookery, here is a recipe called the Tuna 'Everything' Loaf. It has an abundance of nutrition. It has delectable heartiness. It has no fuss preparation. You can easily see that it's the kind of food to which anyone can happily relate.

Some people claim mysterious health-giving properties that come from secret plantings by the light of the new moon. But look over this factual rundown of the essential nutrients in the basic recipe ingredients for the Tuna 'Everything' Loaf. And judge for yourself whether or not this is a main dish that has everything going for it.

Canned Tuna in Vegetable Oil: Complete protein, phosphorus, vitamin B, iodine, fluorine
Wheat Germ: High protein, carbohydrate, vitamin B, phosphorus, iron Sweet Potato: Exceptional amount of vitamin A, also has vitamin G and iron
Cashews: Protein, phosphorus, iron and niacin
Eggs: Complete protein, high phosphorus, vitamin A Milk: Complete protein, calcium, phosphorus, vitamin D
Mushrooms: Vitamin B, Riboflavin, iron
Lemon Juice: Vitamin C

HOT CROSS BUNS

Although Hot Cross Buns are associated with Christianity, they actually are filled with pagan symbolism, says Louise K. Breitung, Extension Home Economist. The cross represented the four quarters of the moon. The buns were also sacred to the gods of the ancient Aztecs and Incas, both the Egyptians and Saxons offered them as sacrifices to their goddesses, believing that the cross had magic powers in preventing sickness and insuring good baking throughout the years. The English adopted Hot Cross Buns for Good Friday in the early days of the Christian Church.

Today Hot Cross Buns are a traditional Lenten and Eastertide treat. This recipe uses the regular method for compressed or granular yeast. If you use the new modified yeast, follow package directions. Be sure to use the full amount of liquid. For variation, substitute whole wheat flour for one cup of the white for whole wheat hot cross buns.

One package compressed or granular yeast

One-fourth cup water
One-fourth cup sugar
One teaspoon salt
One-fourth cup shortening
One cup milk, scalded
One egg beaten
One teaspoon cinnamon
One-fourth teaspoon allspice
Four to four and one-half cups flour, sifted
Three-fourths cup currants or raisins

— Soften yeast in lukewarm water, five to ten minutes.

Measure sugar, salt, and shortening into bowl. Add hot milk, stir until dissolved. When lukewarm, add yeast. Add egg.

Sift spices with half the flour, add milk mixture; beat. — Add currants and enough flour one-half cup at a time, to make soft dough. Turn out on floured board; cover and let rest 10 minutes.

Knead dough until smooth and satiny — about five to ten minutes or until it springs back when you press it with finger.

— Shape dough into a ball, place in a greased bowl, turning to grease surface. Cover and let rise in a warm place until double or it retains imprint of a finger when pressed.

— Punch down dough. Roll to one-third inch thickness; cut with a two and one-half inch biscuit cutter. Form each cut piece into a ball by drawing cut edges under and pinching. Place balls of dough one-half inch apart on greased baking pans. Let rise until doubled.

— Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., 20 to 25 minutes. Remove at once from pans. Cool slightly, then make cross of white icing on each roll while warm. Makes about three dozen buns.

CONFECTIONERS' ICING

One and one-half cups confectioners' sugar
Two tablespoons milk or water

½ teaspoon vanilla or lemon juice

— Stir sugar into milk or water; add flavoring.

— Drop from tip of spoon to make crosses on warm rolls.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE

Dear Heloise:

Well, the winter session of school is in such full swing now that the lunches kids carry are usually beginning to be too much the same for them. Here are a few suggestions I have found to add a little variety to the same old thing.

Little ones have difficulty pouring from a vacuum bottle and often tip the cups. Why not provide a straw so that they can drink right from the bottle?

Children tire of sandwiches. Wash those cottage cheese cartons and put in their favorite cereal and some sugar. Give them a spoon. Milk is always available at the lunch room. A piece of fruit, a doughnut, etc. — it's fantastic how the kids gobble this up.

Put tuna or egg salad in a margarine tub. Provide some crackers instead of bread. A welcome change.

Pork and beans with diced lunch meat carried in a plastic, airtight carton is something a bit different. Slip in a piece of buttered bread to go along with it.

Cold, fried chicken would give a really picnic flare to the meal.

Some soups will be welcomed if they are easy to sip directly from the vacuum bottle. If the soup has pieces that necessitate pouring, give them a wide-mouthed bottle and a spoon — or send along a cottage cheese carton for easier handling and pouring.

You know how the first little sausage is so hard to remove from the can. Why not empty the can for your little one and put the meat sticks in an airtight plastic container?

During the week I work in a school cafeteria and can observe the little ones as they eat. So maybe this will start your imagination going. There are endless possibilities for a lunch aside from sandwiches and it tends to give better appetites too!

George Wallace Seen as Key in Florida Primary

MIAMI (AP) — Florida's opposition to busing, his advocacy of increased defense and space spending, his stress on law and order, Jackson needs to push out of the pack and move to the front echelon of candidates to gain headway for the later primaries.

The March 14 primary will award 81 delegate votes at the Democratic National Convention. Wallace is certain to get some of them, and at this point, appears likely to get more than anybody else.

The state's top Democrats are watching but aloof, and neither Gov. Reubin Askew nor Humphrey, who now says he would support legislation against compulsory school busing, is planning an intensive, virtually fulltime Florida campaign of 15 to 20 stops a day.

Jackson plans to work the state almost fulltime, too. Lindsey says is to spend about 10 more days hunting Florida votes. McGovern and Muskie are dividing their campaign time between Florida and New Hampshire, where they will meet on March 7.

The other Florida entries are far behind the lead, but they could divide enough of the vote to affect the standing of the frontrunners.

Wallace tells his campaign crowds the national Democratic leaders have the shakes over his candidacy because "they know what you might do in a race where there are 10" rival contenders dividing the vote in a contest decided by a plurality.

Some see it as simply Wallace against the field—a major plus for him.

Wallace hopes to take advantage of crowded primary ballots in other states later. He is meeting tonight with supporters in Annapolis, Md., to begin organizing his campaign for the May 16 Maryland primary—one of at least 10 he plans to enter.

There is a 12th entry on the Florida ballot, and it could be crucial on March 14, when voters will be asked to register opinion on the question of compulsory busing of schoolchildren for purposes of classroom racial balance.

That vote will have no legal standing, but the political fallout is likely to benefit Wallace, helping to turn out his supporters, and keeping the issue paramount.

"If I were running the Wallace campaign, that's just what I would want," said Humphrey. "The busing issue is the predominant issue," said Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, who is pushing it hard, sponsoring a constitutional amendment to forbid the practice.

Jackson argues the referendum will give voters an opportunity to oppose busing without backing Wallace.

Muskie doesn't talk about busing in his campaign speeches, which often take the tone more of the sermon than the political stump—until he comes to Wallace.

There is a candidate in the primary whose whole career has been built on playing on people's fears, and his name is George Wallace," Muskie said in Deland. "I'm told he's going to win... I don't believe it."

His managers believe it. The consensus in assorted polls taken for Florida candidates is that Wallace is well ahead, pushing close to the 30-per-cent level. Muskie and Humphrey are generally rated in the 20-per-cent area. In another rank are Jackson, said to be gaining ground in the most recent opinion surveys, and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, with Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota trailing them.

Jackson has a heavy stake in Florida. Casting himself as the different Democrat, with his

Statesmen Beat Onteora, 67-52

Coleman Victory Ends Season on Happy Note

By IRA FUSFELD

KINGSTON The basketball season couldn't have ended any better Tuesday for Coleman High School.

It was Parent's Night and a fine crowd turned out to see the players present corsages to their mothers and then dish out their best brand of ball to visiting Onteora.

And after it was all over and the Statesmen had creamed Onteora, 67-52, finishing out the year at the .500 level (9-9), Coleman Coach Bill DuBois was the happiest man in Kingston. "The kids did a helluva job," beamed DuBois, who had just been carried into the shower.

clothes and all, by his jubilant squad. "Phil Palladino did a tremendous job. Did he go both ways or not? And Mike Eigo was great. We just played one helluva game!"

It was the kind of effort with which coaches hope to end a season. The Statesmen were outplayed only under the boards, certainly not an unusual occurrence. Everything else was all Coleman. It defended beautifully, shot well enough, and forced Onteora into one of its poorer showings of the campaign.

"A horrendous ballgame," moaned Indian Mentor Ron Pape. "There was a lack of teamwork out there and an inability to put the ball in the basket, just a horrendous game."

"I don't know what it was," Pape continued. "Maybe it was a comedown after the Liberty game, or maybe they took it as a joke since this was just a tag-on game. I'll tell you something, Coleman didn't take it as a joke, they played fine ball out there."

While the game didn't mean a thing as far as the Ulster County Athletic League standings were concerned, it nevertheless was important to Onteora which was looking to impress Section Nine tournament officials who are meeting today to make their choices.

"It was the wrong time for an off night," Pape understated. The "off night" was best reflected in the play of guard Dan Brown. The 5-10 senior who won the UCL scoring crown, had one of the least effective nights of his career.

Brown managed to record 19 points, but he was a dismal floor for 22 from the floor and a relatively weak 11-17 from the foul line. He was never the dominant figure he can and not the least of the reasons was the tremendous way Eigo handled him on defense.

Eigo, appearing for the last time in a Coleman uniform, was all over Brown, constantly harrassing the Indian ace, never giving him an opening.

The key figures on offense for Coleman were Palladino and John Geuss, both juniors, thus giving DuBois another reason to smile.

Palladino, who was being scouted by a recruiter from St. Bernard, Fla. College, hit for 26 points and also turned in a solid effort on the other end of the floor. The big statistic for him was the 19 under his name in the rebound column.

Geuss, who had started the season so strongly and had tailed off miserably in recent weeks, came off the bench to contribute 22 points, and looked more like his old self.

Despite all the Coleman heroics, Onteora should have blown the Statesmen off the court in the first quarter and nearly did.

The Boiceville team opened up a 10-2 lead mainly through its domination under the boards, which gave lanky forward Pete Chepeleff a chance to be an early star.

But when Geuss entered the game to help out underneath and Brown failed on five or six straight from the field, Coleman began to rally and scored eight of the next nine, closing the gap to 11-10 at the buzzer.

After that Coleman controlled. The Statesmen led 28-26 at the half, widened it to 44-31 at the three quarter mark, and stretched that to 18 in the final period (59-41) before Onteora cut it down a drop.

The losers, who were with eight men due to various injuries, still came away with a fine 11-7 record and some kind words from their coach.

"I'm very pleased with the way the season went overall," noted Pape. "The kids first had to overcome the forfeits (five in the early going because of an ineligible player), and then they had to overcome the loss of four players due to injuries."

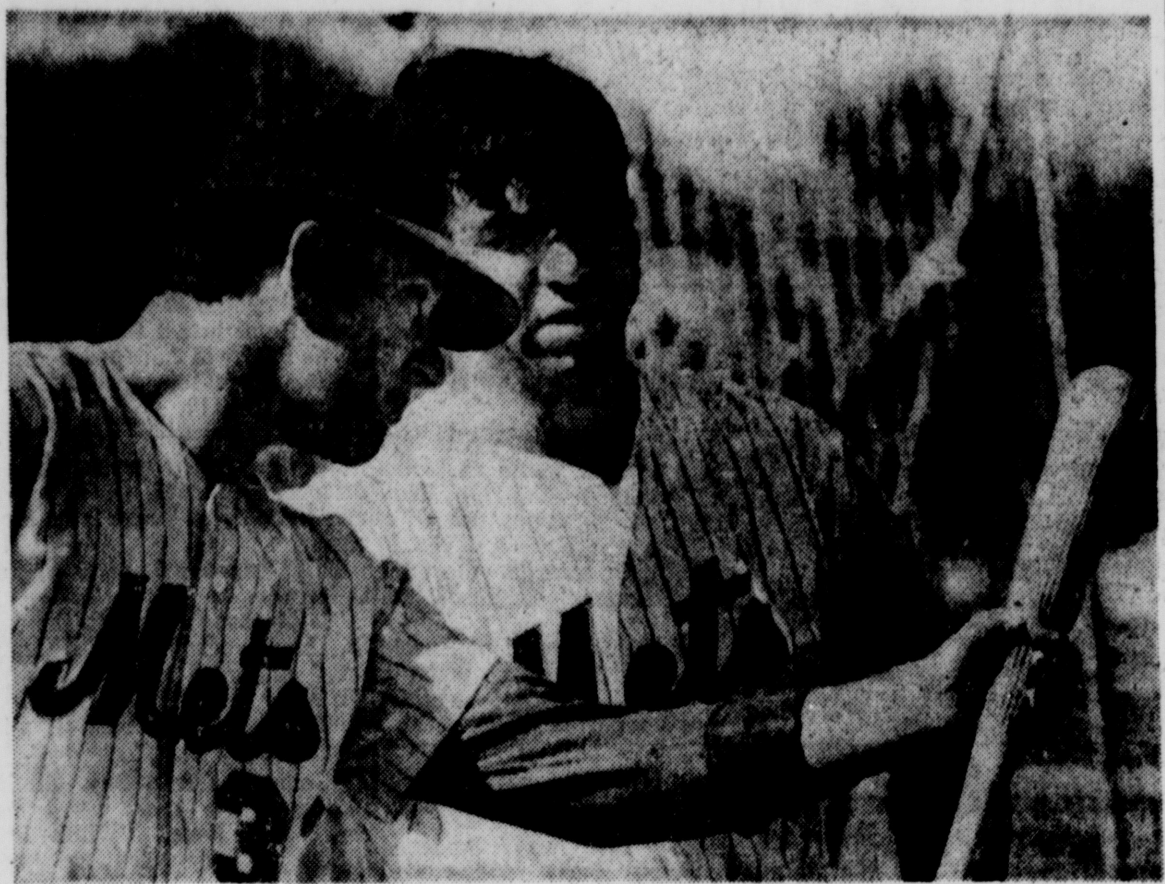

But Pape offered an optimistic look ahead to next year's playing time.

"Something which this year's crop had not during the championship season of a year ago."

DuBois was understandably cheered by next year's outlook too. He has several boys coming up from a 14-2 JV team and quite a nucleus back from the current group.

"And remember this about this year's team," DuBois pointed out, "we were in every ball game this season with the exception of the Liberty game." But Tuesday's finale gave DuBois even better things to think about this summer.

THIS IS A BAT — Mets pitchers Ray Sadecki (L) and Danny Frisella hold court on pitchers favorite subject, hitting. The Mets full squad was slated to report for the first day of spring training today. (UPI)

Salary Wheel Lands On Bando's Number

By United Press International

Baseball's salary wheel continued to spin in its incongruous fashion Tuesday when Sal Bando signed with the Oakland Athletics for about $50,000 while Juan Marichal of the San Francisco Giants and Dick Allen of the Chicago White Sox bid for salaries of $120,000.

Bando, for whom Oakland manager Dick Williams openly campaigned as the American League's Most Valuable Player above teammate Vida Blue, agreed to terms along with relief pitcher Roland Fingers. The clutch-hitting third baseman had a .271-24-94 performance in batting average, homers and runs batted in as the Athletics swept to the American League Western Division title by 16 games over the Kansas City Royals last season.

Blue, whose 24-8 record and 1.82 earned run average plus a sensational number of low-hit and high-strikeout games earned him the AL's MVP and pitcher of the year awards, remains unsigned. He and club owner Charles Finley are understood to be about $40,000 apart with Blue asking $30,000 and Finley offering $50,000.

Fingers had a 4-6 won-lost record in 1971 but was credited with 17 saves and posted a 2.92 earned run average.

Marichal, a six-time 20-game winner who had an 18-11 record in 1971, indicated from the Dominican Republic that he wants a $20,000 raise. He is believed to have made between $100,000 and $120,000 last season with most observers inclined to accept the lower figure.

Marichal, who always is difficult to sign, told the Giants he would head for their Casa Grande, Ariz., spring camp "in a day or two." He said he wanted to speak to club owner Horace Stoneham before signing.

Allen, acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers in one of the big winter trades, turned in a .285-23-90 performance last season. The White Sox are hoping that he and Bill Melton, the AL home run champion with 33 in 1971, will give them the hardest-hitting 1-2 punch in their history and make them contenders in the AL Western Division.

The White Sox announced the signings of infielder Rich Morales and pitcher Stan Perzanowski. They have nine unsigned players.

Elsewhere: Pitcher Bill Singer (10-17), outfielder Manny Mota (.312) and catcher-infielder Bill Sudakis (.193) signed with the Dodgers ... Rod Carew, who batted .307 for the Minnesota Twins in 1971 and is regarded as a possible 400-hitter, agreed to terms ...

Pitchers Stan Williams, Jim Bibby, Joe Grzenda and Al Hrabosky and infielder Marty Martinez signed with the St. Louis Cardinals ... The Texas Rangers rejected home run hitter Frank Howard's latest request for a multi-year contract. The Rangers have asked Howard to take a 20 per cent pay cut from his $125,000 earnings in 1971.

Onteora Splits With Liberty

WOODRIDGE

Mary McGrath led the way as Onteora High School girls' ski team swept past Liberty on the Davos slopes Tuesday, 193-2, 207-05.

The Indian men weren't quite so successful as the Sullivan County skiers took care of them by a 163.9-172.25 margin.

Miss McGrath was an easy victor for Coach Rick Barthel's OCS squad. Her 34.6 clocking was 2.6 seconds better than Bobbie Allee of Liberty, who was runner-up.

Robin MacFadden, Sue Tyler, Andrea Hauser, Carol Anderson, Sue Wallace, and Ginger Birstein also placed in the top ten for Onteora.

Steve Schiff led a Liberty barrage which covered the first six spots in the boys' meet. Top finisher for Onteora was Mike Mazzola who came in seventh.

The girls' win boosted their record to 3-4 while the boys dropped to 2-5.

Onteora has a meet this afternoon with New Paltz and Fallsburgh at Bellare.

Maroon Skiers Club Ellenville

WOODRIDGE

Let the record read nine wins and one defeat for both the boys and girls ski team at Kingston High School.

The Maroons' squads each added another triumph Tuesday at Davos over Ellenville. The boys won, 137-152, while the girls scored a 159-196 victory. Kingston took the first four places in both meets. Tim O'Donnell led the boys in a fine 26.5. He was followed by Pete Fowler's 26.6, Gary Reynolds' 27.7, and Steve Graham's 28.2.

Nancy Kolln was first for the girls in 31.0. Linda Conway (31.2), Cindy Lowe (31.35), and Muffy Brigham (32.0) followed. Coach Tony Badalato's Maroons have two meets left on the schedule. Monday against Ellenville and Tuesday versus Onteora.

The Kingston team already has won the Section One championship and part of the KHS squad will go to the State meet.

Defense Rewards KHS With 63-32 Triumph

By STEVE KANE

FREEDOM PLAINS

An exceptional defensive effort headed Kingston High's basketball Maroons to their second win in a row here Tuesday afternoon, as future DCSL opponent Arlington bowed, 63-32.

Afternoon contests are prone to be sluggish affairs, and this one started off as no exception with the visitors taking a meager 10-8 first period lead. Kingston finally broke loose with some good team shooting, but the Admirals could never get out of their slump.

"I don't know whether we were good or they were bad," said coach Mike Rienzo after the game. It was a good question. For three quarters it looked like Kingston was playing in a trance. Yet despite the slow-motion antics of the Kingston five, Arlington lagged behind on the scoreboard.

As their 5-10 record indicated before the game, the Admirals were suffering from a sheer lack of talent. They had no one to stop Tony Adams underneath and no defense to seriously contest the Kingston ball handlers. It wasn't until consecutive baskets by Arlington's Larry Riley midway through the third quarter cut the Maroons' lead to three points did the Kingston offense wake up. From that point the visitors outscored Arlington 34-6.

There was no denying the Maroons' defensive play, however. Adams set the pace with a bundle of blocked shots right from the start and, with Tom Turco and Chuck Jackson, managed to sew up both boards. In addition, Ron Burris did a fine job on Hoppy Priest.

Kingston's man-to-man was far more effective than Arlington's zone, and the Admirals' 24 per cent mark from the field was mostly the result of unsuccessful forced shots. None of the home forces could hit double figures with Riley's eight points heading the list.

Kingston displayed balanced scoring again as they have done most of the year. Adams checked in with 15 points, and Burris and Turco had 14 each as everyone on the team got on the board. The Maroons had a 45.2 per cent clip going for the contest.

There was a minute and a half gone in the second half before a Kingston player drew a foul. Part of the reason was the aggressiveness missing from the Maroon attack. They seemed to be trying to play the game without running. Do the afternoon games, with reduced attendance, slow things down that much?

"I don't think so," answered Rienzo. "After all we practice in the afternoon. Our big guys have a tendency to be sluggish anyway. It's just been a long season."

With Turco hitting from the corner, Adams throwing them up from the lane and Burris popping from the outside, Kingston came on like gangbusters in the fourth period. When the subs came in with three minutes left, the pace just got faster. The finish was Newburgh revisited.

Rienzo, now with a 10-7 team, is hoping some steam will be left tonight when the Ketcham Indians come to town. Led by highly regarded Doug Heady, the Indians will be a little tougher than were the Admirals.

Seventeen straight is now the junior varsity Maroons' mark. With a slow-down in the last period, the JV's kept their string intact with a 59-51 victory.

Raider Seniors Star

It was a night for seniors in Red Hook. Playing their last basketball game on their home court, the Raiders upperclassmen starred in a 62-56, non-league victory over Pine Plains Tuesday to finish the season with an 11-6 overall record.

Dan Theberge, the Raiders' classy guard, topped the scoring with 23 points and was almost personally responsible for breaking the game open in the third quarter. The Bombers had established a 29-27 halftime lead before Theberge went on a five-point binge then added four more minutes later to boost the Raiders to 46-38 advantage.

From that point the Red Hook shooters kept Pine Plains at bay. There are four seniors on the Red Hook squad and only one, Theberge, is a regular starter.

RED HOOK But with Kevin Kelly declared scholastically ineligible, Coach Rod Chando turned to another fourth year man to fill the gap.

Big Bob Perz responded with eight points and a fine overall performance that contributed strongly to the Red Hook victory.

"Bob has been waiting to play for a couple of years," said Chando. "He has a great attitude and tonight he gave us a real good job."

John Funk helped the Raider cause with 17 points, and Glynn Chitty led the Bombers with 19.

Turnovers were the downfall of Pine Plains which outscored Red Hook in all but the third stanza. The Bombers had the boards but threw too many wild passes to make them count.

Wayne Rice with eight points and Brian Becker with four were the other Red Hook seniors honored before the game.

January Winner

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jerry

West, whose brilliant play has helped spark the Los Angeles Lakers to a 54-9 record so far this season, including a record 33 consecutive wins, Monday became the January winner in the balloting for the 23rd annual Hickok Professional Athlete of the Year Award.

Old Feeling Was Gone

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — years ago with the Packers for Donny Anderson and MacArthur Lane, two of pro football's best running backs, switched teams Tuesday in a trade designed to restore harmony to the St. Louis Cardinals and Green Bay Packers.

Anderson, who signed six years ago with the Packers for one of the largest bonus contracts in football history, was shipped to the Cardinals and Lane, who drew a one-game suspension last season because of public criticism of the St. Louis ownership, came to the Packers.

Neither player had signed a 1971 contract and each could be a free agent on May 1 if terms are not agreed to.

Anderson, one-half of the Packers' famed "Million Dollar backfield" of 1966, had a total offense of more than 1,000 yards last season with 757 of them coming on the ground, since the end of the regular season and neither Anderson nor Lane had played with the Cardinals.

Anderson, 28, had expressed some frustrations after the final game, saying, "You just do your best and if they don't think it's enough, you move on."

He admitted Tuesday, "Things had worn a little thin at Green Bay as far as certain people were concerned."

Lane, 29, was suspended for the final game of 1971 when he allegedly made remarks about Cardinals vice president William V. Bidwill after a 19-7 loss to Philadelphia.

But, relations between the former Utah State star and Bidwill had become more cordial since the end of the season and just a few days ago he and Bidwill had posed for a picture together spoofing the alleged remark.

Both Anderson and Lane were first round draft choices, Anderson in 1965 as a junior and Lane three years later as a senior.

Both expressed pleasure at the trade.

"I just hope I can do the job St. Louis coaches want from me," Anderson said. "I know I am very excited about it. I think for all concerned it will work out the best."

"Going to Green Bay will be like a whole new world for me," said Lane. "While I'm sorry to be leaving the Cardinals, I'm looking forward to joining Green Bay. It's a fine organization and it will be a fresh start for me."

Devine said he felt the trade would strengthen the Packers.

"Lane is an excellent blocker, a good pass receiver and a good rusher," he said. He added that if anything would happen to Brockington, Lane could also play fullback.

Rangers Crush Canadiens

By United Press International

It took 37 minutes and one second of determined skating but the New York Rangers finally forced Montreal to crack under the pressure—and what followed was one of the most stunning losses the Canadiens ever have suffered before a home crowd.

The Canadiens opened up a 3-0 lead over the Rangers by 8:27 of the first period Tuesday night and elected to protect the lead with a brand of defensive hockey they rarely play.

The tactic boomeranged as the Rangers, skating all out, picked up momentum in the third period and scored six goals in the final 15:32 to score a 7-3 victory at the Forum. Jean Ratelle scored his 44th and 45th goals in the third period to spark the comeback.

"We forced the Canadiens to make mistakes in their own end," analyzed New York Coach Emile Francis. "That's one thing about the Rangers—even though we're down by three goals we don't sit on our hands."

Ratelle sparked the comeback with his 44th at 5:28 of the third period and Brad Park followed with the game-tying goal at 10:11. Pete Stemkowski made it 4-3 at 12:25 and the Rangers poured it on with goals by Jim Neilson, Ratelle and Vic Hadfield to complete the rout.

Ratelle picked up three points for the night to tie for the league scoring lead with Phil Esposito, who had his 52nd goal and an assist as the Boston Bruins held off the Vancouver Canucks 4-3.

Esposito's goal in the second period followed first period

WHA Grabs Parent

MIAMI (UPI)—Miami's new World Hockey Association (WHA) team, the Screaming Eagles, are crowing today over the signing of Toronto goalie Bernie Parent of the National Hockey League.

However, the Screaming Eagles are acting coy about the details.

The spokesman who announced Parent's signing Tuesday said only that an agreement had been reached on a multi-year contract with Parent, 26, and declined to say how much money was involved.

The formal signing has been set for Sunday afternoon.

There have been unconfirmed reports the Screaming Eagles had offered Parent $750,000 on a five-year contract to jump from the NHL Maple Leafs.

Parent was traded to the Leafs last year by the Philadelphia Flyers.

In Toronto, NHL Players' Association President Alan Eagleson said Tuesday that Parent's defection from the older league could be the signal for many other NHL players to jump to the fledgling WHA.

Eagleson estimated that as many as 40 NHL players, including such superstars as Bobby Hull and Derek Sanderson, were in "serious" negotiations with WHA teams.

He said that as many as half of this number would go to the WHA if they get the right deal.

"The others might use what the WHA offers as a lever to jack up their salaries with their present teams," Eagleson added.

Maple Leafs President Harold Ballard said he had no plans to take court action against Parent's reported move.

Canadian Boxer Succumbs

WINNIPEG, Canada (UPI) — Gray, 27, was knocked unconscious early in the seventh round of the Monday night bout.

Doctors performed a two-hour operation to relieve brain pressure, but Gray never regained consciousness after the surgery.

Gray, a native of Nova Scotia, was the third-ranked light heavyweight in Canada and the second-ranked middleweight at the time of his death.

Gray's manager, Irv Ungerman, who also manages George Chuvalo, immediately announced the Chuvalo-Muhamad fight scheduled for March 13 in Vancouver would be postponed indefinitely.

Frazier Responds To Tongue-Lashing

NEW YORK (AP) — Walt Frazier is the New York Knicks' biggest scorer ... but he apparently is not too big to receive a tongue-lashing ... and respond to it with the proper attitude.

Frazier, averaging about 25 points per game, received a verbal blast from Coach Red Holzman at halftime of the Knicks' National Basketball Association game against Portland Tuesday night.

"I was too nonchalant in the first half," said Frazier after he had hit only three of eight field goal attempts and scored 11 points. "I knew Red would give it to me at halftime."

After the oral thrashing, Frazier went out on the court and played a more typical game for him. He sank eight of nine floor shots and finished with a game-high 29 points as the Knicks beat the hapless Trailblazers 122-105.

It was the Knicks' seventh victory in the last eight games and kept them 2½ games behind the first-place Boston Celtics in the NBA's Atlantic Division race. The loss dropped Portland's record to 15-33, worst in the league.

Two scoring spurts—one in the first quarter and another in the fourth period—were decisive. A 12-2 burst led by Dick Barnett and Phil Jackson helped the Knicks open a comfortable lead in the opening quarter. Then, 12 consecutive points in the final quarter gave New York an insurmountable 114-94 cushion.

Holzman employed his second-stringer more than usual, and also used a three-guard offense at times, including Frazier, Barnett and Earl Monroe.

"We can do that against a team like this," said Frazier. "The only teams we can't do it against are those with dominating centers. Against those teams, we've got to do a lot of running. And we have the guys who can handle the fast break."

Jerry Lucas added 21 points for the Knicks and Monroe contributed 18.

Sidney Wicks and Geoff Petrie shared scoring honors for the Trailblazers with 21 points each.

Fordham Jolts ND

By United Press International

Digger Phelps watched as the Fordham team he molded last season coasted to victory Tuesday night. The only problem for Phelps was that he was watching from the opposite bench.

Phelps took over at Fordham last season and led the club to its most successful season—26-3 and an NCAA tournament berth. But he left abruptly after the season to take over at Notre Dame.

Fordham gave its old coach some rough treatment Tuesday night, rolling to an 18-point halftime lead and beating the Fighting Irish 89-72. Kenny Charles had 21 points and Tom Sullivan added 19 for the Rams, now 15-7. Notre Dame, which suffered its 22nd loss in 28 games, was led by Tom O'Mara with 32.

The only rated team in action was Maryland and the 11th-ranked Terps got 25 points from sophomore Tom McMillen—19 of them in the second half—to defeat Richmond 76-61. Richmond stunned Maryland by taking a 38-33 lead at the half before the 6-foot McMillen went to work. Jim O'Brien added 15 points for Maryland, now 19-3.

Elsewhere, Tom Ricciardi scored 21 points as Ohio University beat Loyola (Ill.) 84-76 and two free throws by Ernie DiGregorio and a field goal by Marvin Barnes in the last 30 seconds helped Providence beat Assumption 81-77. Terry Benton's 24 points carried Wichita State to a 95-71 victory over Drake and Jobie Wright and John Ritter combined for 49 points as Indiana beat Illinois 90-71.

Colombo Sr. May Attend Unity Day Celebration

NEW YORK (AP) — Anthony Colombo has announced that Italian Unity Day will be celebrated June 26 with a rally here that may be attended by his father, Joseph Colombo.

The elder Colombo, founder of the Italian-American Civil Rights League, was shot in the head before thousands of people at last year's rally in Columbus Circle. He is convalescing at a private home.

"My father now is in very good condition—it's a miracle," said Anthony Colombo, vice president of the league, at a news conference Tuesday to protest "continuing harassment" of league officials by the FBI.

Colombo said his bedridden father "can't speak and he can't read, but he is aware of what is going on."

"The doctors are more optimistic now than ever before that he will have at least an 80 per cent recovery," Colombo said.

Sitting between two league officers arrested last week, Colombo asserted that the Justice Department has conducted a "harassment" campaign against league officials for almost two years.

Monticello Justice Wins Support

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (UPI) — Justice Lawrence H. Cooke of Monticello won the support of nearly a dozen upstate Democratic county chairmen Tuesday for a seat on the Court of Appeals.

Three seats on the state's highest court are expected to be vacated by year's end because of the mandatory retirement age. George Palmer, chairman of Schenectady County Democrats, said 10 of the 11 chairmen in the Third Judicial Department supported Cooke, a State Supreme Court justice, serves in the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court by appointment of Governor Rockefeller.

The Third Judicial Department encompasses the counties of Clinton, Essex, Franklin, Fulton, Hamilton, Montgomery, St. Lawrence, Saratoga, Schenectady, Warren and Washington.

The three judges leaving the Court of Appeals this year are Associate Judges Francis Bergen of Albany, James Gibson of Hudson Falls and John F. Scileppi of New York City.

NOTICE OF CHANGE IN ELECTRIC RATE SCHEDULE

On February 16, 1972, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation filed with the Public Service Commission of the State of New York amendments to electric rate schedule, P.S.C. No. 14—Electricity to become effective March 29, 1972. Said amendments propose the addition of a Fuel Cost Adjustment Clause whereby rates for each change of 0.001 cent per kWh, from a base cost of fuel of 0.300 cents per kWh, will be increased or decreased by 0.0011 cents per kWh, reflecting the difference between net energy available for own use and metered sales and the applicable state and local gross revenue tax rate.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Commissioners of the Board of Public Works of the City of Kingston, New York at its Office in the Municipal Building, 25 East O'Reilly Street, Kingston, New York, until 4 P.M. on Wednesday, March 1, 1972. They will be publicly opened and read at 7:30 P.M. on the same day at the regular meeting of the Board of Public Works in the Mayors Office, City Hall.

PROPOSALS ARE INVITED ON THE FOLLOWING:

ITEM I 5 Each—8" Base 11 Ga. x 29" 6" Galvanized Steel Street Lighting Standards complete with 60,000 L. M. V. Luminaire internal wiring, anchor bolts, grounding wire and insulator cap for overhead wiring.

ITEM II 3 Each—10" Base 3 Ga. x 29" 6" Galvanized Steel Street Lighting Standards complete with 60,000 L. M. V. Luminaire internal wiring, anchor bolts, grounding wire and insulator cap for overhead wiring.

The Board of Public Works reserves the right to vary the quantities listed above without penalty. (The numbers of each type may be interchanged).

Notice to prospective bidders is given that the proposals are invited for supplying the above items only and not for their installation.

Proposals must be submitted on forms furnished by the Board of Public Works. These forms, together with other contract documents, including plan and specifications, may be obtained from the Office of the City Engineer, City Hall, (3rd floor) upon the deposit of $40.00 which will be refunded upon the return of the documents in good order within ten (10) days after the opening of bids. Contractors who do not submit proposals will be refunded $5.00 upon the return of the documents.

The documents may be examined free of charge at the above office of the City Engineer.

The Commissioners expressly reserve the right to waive any informalities in or to accept any bid, or to reject any or all bids, as the interest of the City of Kingston may appear to require.

By order of the Board of Public Works of the City of Kingston, New York.

Your Horoscope

Thursday, February 24

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are under excellent influences now to work out new arrangements with members of your own household for greater efficiency of operation and more harmony. You can figure out the best manner in which to so channel your energies and efforts that the future will hold greater promise for you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Ideal day to sit down with kin and talk over how to have greater success and harmony in the future. Plan the social activities for the future that are wise. Handle that business matter with real judgment.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get an early start on important tasks, keeping appointments, buying new articles, etc. Being on time to see that important man can bring right results. Gain much peace of mind in p.m.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handle financial affairs well in a.m. so you can cut down on expenses and get bills paid off easily. Show appreciation for one who advises you well. Use cabs more often to save yourself much time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Morning is best time to handle personal affairs very well, but don't argue with others later in the day. Take time for your beautician or barber. Make your appearance as attractive as you can.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Handle tasks that are of a confidential nature early in the day for best results. Then you will have more time left for recreation. Hunches are fine early but not dependable later. Home and family are best tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Some dependable friend will assist you with some plan you have that is important to you in a.m. Get into the project that gives you more prosperity in the future. Make your life far more interesting, satisfying.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show cleverness in pleasing bigwigs who have much control over your affairs and you will get fine support. Get into that civic work for which you are well suited. Do nothing that can ruin your reputation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have some very good ideas that only need discussing with experts in such fields who will help you solve whatever is puzzling you. Make some little change that is wise. Plan that trip now that is important to your scheme of things.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study your responsibilities early and then handle them with sureness and dispatch so you free your time for other activities. Doing whatever improves your relationship with mate is wise later. Build up the other's ego.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make sure you know what associates expect of you and then you can proceed more intelligently. One who has opposed you can now understand your viewpoints if you are more specific than you have been.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You like to work and this is a day when you can do so to your heart's content and get obligations behind you quickly and well. State your aims to co-workers and gain their more willing cooperation. Take it easy tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can plan amusements for the days ahead or for the p.m.

early in the day, so you feel more content. Use right means to reassure the object of your affections of your devotion. Stop feeling sorry for yourself.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those highly evolved young people who automatically understands what is best for self as well as other, so it would be well to slant the education along lines of influence in the community, such as government or ministry. Good also for personnel work. Others will gladly trust your fine youngster who will definitely make his or her mark in the world early in life.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

AT 13: (Q.) My mother read the letter you printed from the 13-year-old girl who thought she was a way out kisser and said she would go all the way if she felt like it. Mother asked me if I had read it and I told her I had.

I am 13, not like that girl. I have a friend who is 15. We don't date, or kiss either. But he is kind, considerate, gentle and honest. He would not hurt me for anything. I know.

I am not serious about him, and do not plan to be. But my mother tells me over and over what a nice boy he is. Do you think she is trying to tell me something, and if so, what?—No Hurry in Ohio.

(A.) Yes, but it may not be that this boy is the exact one to keep your eye on and to plan for when you are old enough to start dating.

It may be that she is saying some boys are the right kind and others are not, and that the same goes for girls. She may be saying that it is better to be trustworthy, whether you are a boy or a girl, and that trustworthy boys and girls are the kind to be friends with.

But why don't you ask her what she is trying to tell you?

DIFFERENT: (Q.) I don't have any taste. Every time I go shopping for material for a dress and then show it to my friends they don't like it or say it's ugly. I try to study other girls' clothes but I can never find anything similar. What can I do so people won't think I'm weird and tasteless?—Trying in Connecticut.

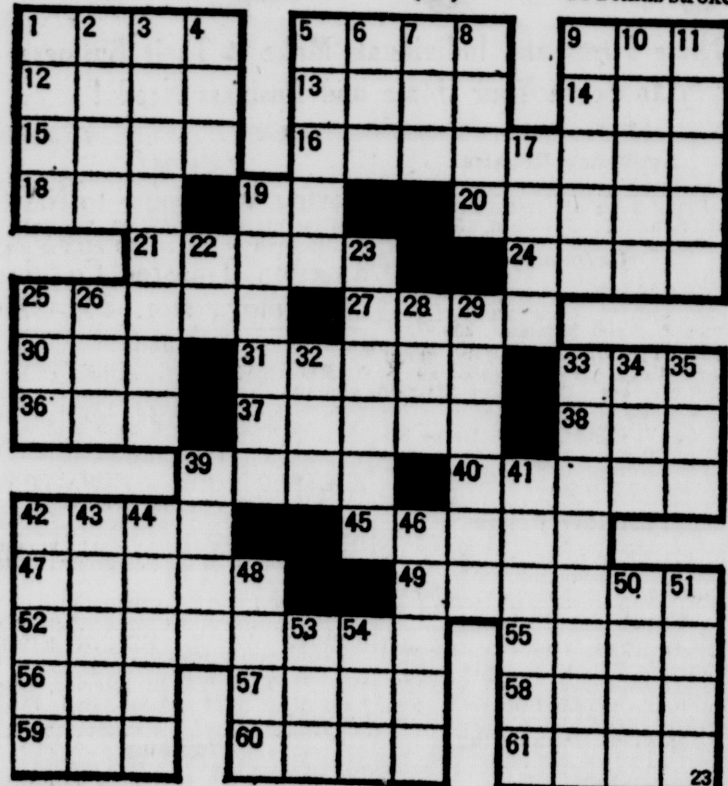

(A.) It is not necessary today to wear clothes just like all the other girls'. There are so many fashions, colors, fabrics, lengths, patterns that you can dress to please yourself.

And the girls who make remarks about your choices may be a bit jealous of your individuality. They may wish their taste was as good as yours.

Leaving New York Scene

Carson Moving to Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — John Carson, the superstar of late night television, says it's "99.9 per cent sure" he'll move his "Tonight" show headquarters from New York to Hollywood this spring.

Official announcement of the move was expected from NBC today, sources said, and the show's personnel have been notified.

"The talent pool is out here now," Carson said in an interview Tuesday. "That's the basic reason for the change. We'll have better access to people. We use up a lot of talent in our show every night."

Carson, who took over as host of the variety-talk show 10 years ago, noted that "in the last few years there has been a gradual change; almost all television production has changed location to the West Coast." Performers moved with the shows, and Carson's pool of possible guests diminished.

"Besides, change is good for a show like ours," he said.

"We've been in New York for 10 years. A change will give the show a shot and get our people up."

About 20 key members of the Carson team, including announcer Ed McMahon and band leader Doc Severinsen, will make the cross-country hop, probably in May, Carson said, and NBC will build a special Carson annex at its Burbank studios, reportedly at a cost of $1.5 million.

Carson said he's negotiating an NBC contract to run through April 1974.

Carson has been the champ in the 11:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. spot for 10 years, and he said he won't change now.

"People criticize me for not getting into controversial issues," he said. "I haven't gone that route, although it would be easy to do. The track record shows that people don't watch it."

"I put my show in the entertainment category," Carson, who estimates his show reaches 25 million to 30 million viewers per week, added. "Movie personalities have a great deal more latitude to take stands than TV personalities who are in people's homes every night. People become very intimately involved with someone who is on this late at night."

A few times each year, he'll take the show back to New York for visits and a taste for seasonal change. He's still fond of Manhattan.

"It will be great to get back each autumn," Carson said, "when the city really starts clicking."

'This Is Too Much'... Kennedy on Release

ADEN, South Yemen (AP) — "It wasn't the worst moment of my life," said young Joe Kennedy after his release by Arab plane hijackers Tuesday. "I've been scared before, but it never lasted as long."

For 18 hours Kennedy, the eldest son of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, and 117 other male passengers were held aboard a commandeered German jumbo jet parked on a runway at sweltering Aden airport. Five Palestinian hijackers had rigged the plane with explosives before it landed.

Women and children and one elderly man were released hours before the male passengers, and those who didn't wait for their husbands were flown to Beirut to be picked up there today by a flight to Frankfurt.

Lufthansa, the West German airline, sent another 707 jet to Aden to pick up the rest of the passengers. It was due in Frankfurt tonight.

But the 16 crew members remained hostages aboard the plane. The hijackers' demands were not made public, but British Ambassador Arthur Kellas said there were indications they want Arabs held in West Germany released. Diplomats in Beirut said they had reports they were demanding the release of four Palestinians on trial in Cairo for the assassination of Premier Wasfi Telli of Jordan.

Yemeni authorities informed the British ambassador that there was no question of the plane being blown up. The government also was reported determined that the hijackers would not force the crew to fly them out of Aden.

"This is too much," said 19-year-old Joseph P. Kennedy III as he entered the airport lounge, looking tired and ruffled.

He said he talked briefly with one of the five armed hijackers, but "there was something of a language barrier."

Apparently the hijackers did not know he was aboard at first. But then one of them walked by late Tuesday afternoon and said: "Hello, Mr. Kennedy," it was reported.

Young Kennedy spoke by telephone with his uncle, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, in Washington. His mother, Ethel Kennedy, told newsmen she was "relieved and heartened" at the news of her son's release but added: "I'll feel better when I see him right here. I will be happiest when he gets home."

In Beirut, a Lebanese Cabinet minister said he had information that the hijackers didn't know young Kennedy would be aboard the plane.

"He was not the target," said Public Works Minister Kamal Houry. "In fact, the hijackers may have released all the men passengers because he was among them."

Five other Americans were among the passengers: Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Munday of El Segundo, Calif.; Margaret Horn, a Vietnam war widow from Los Angeles, and her 2-month-old son Richard, and James Wallace of Elm Grove, Wis., a Peace Corps worker in India going home to see his ailing mother.

Mrs. Munday said she had tried to remain in the plane with her husband but a member of the British Embassy staff advised her to leave.

Mrs. Horn, whose husband was killed in a plane crash in Laos, told newsmen: "I simply closed my eyes and prayed."

"When they took over the plane, I thought something awful was going to happen. Everyone got more and more scared as we approached Aden and the hijackers planted explosives near the emergency exits."

"The hijackers looked quite ordinary, innocent young men, but they carried pistols and grenades in their hands and they told us not to cause any trouble."

"They said they were patriots who wanted to free their country from Israel and no one would stand in their way."

The Lufthansa jet was seized early Tuesday an hour after taking off from New Delhi for Europe.

The hijackers said they were members of the Zionist Occupation Victims Organization, with headquarters in the Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip.

Senate Begins Floor Fight on Busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today headed into what is expected to be a bitter floor fight over proposals to ban busing of school children to achieve racial integration.

Under consideration is a $23-billion higher-education bill to which the House has tied a $1.5-billion school desegregation fund asked by President Nixon.

The House tacked onto the $1.5-billion measure three anti-busing amendments. Southern Democratic senators plan to use the same bill as the basis for their own proposals aimed at federal court-ordered busing.

But several of the strongest foes of court-ordered busing have said they do not believe any such legislative enactments will be effective.

They said the courts have ruled consistently that the equal-protection clause of the 14th Amendment overrides legislative bans on busing. Thus, they say, the only solution is a constitutional amendment.

The $23 billion would provide annual grants up to $1,400 to college students from low-income families, continuation of present work-study and loan programs for students, and increased institutional support to colleges and universities.

The Senate is considering the bill under an agreement which will bring a final vote a week from today. Two hours will be allowed on each of 35 amendments, many of which deal with busing.

Antibusing amendments were defeated when the Senate first considered its version of the $1.5-billion school-desegregation measure last April.

But the issue has become much hotter since then, particularly in view of the recent federal court order that school districts in two adjoining counties must be combined with schools in Richmond, Va., city for desegregation purposes.

The two Senate leaders, Democrat Mike Mansfield and Republican Hugh Scott, are working on a plan which Senate liberals are expected to rally behind. This is expected to permit some busing under stringent conditions.

Liberals contend school segregation cannot be ended without some busing.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I.,

floor manager for the bill, asked in opening debate on the legislation that his colleagues pass the version worked out in the Senate Labor Committee in December. This version knocked off the three House antibusing riders but contained a provision stating that nothing in the act shall be construed to require busing of pupils in order to overcome racial imbalance.

This language, included in several previous laws, allows court-ordered busing held necessary to carry out the desegregation required by the Constitution.

IRA Chief, Three Others Arrested in Dublin

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—A bomb demolished a filling station and army observation post and slightly damaged a police station today, injuring one British soldier.

In Dublin, Irish Republic police said they arrested Cathal Goulding, 49, chief of staff of the official wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA), and three other leading members of the outlawed organization. They were charged with offenses against the state and taken to Bridewell's Prison.

The Irish government said earlier it planned to crack down on the IRA, whose official wing in Dublin claimed responsibility for the bombing of a parachute regiment officers' mess in England Tuesday which killed seven persons.

Police identified the other three arrested IRA members as John Garland and Michael Ryan, associated with the newspaper, the United Irishman, and Tony Heffernan, general secretary of the official wing of Sinn Fein, the political wing of the IRA.

Hijackers seized a gasoline tanker in the center of Belfast and attached a bomb to the vehicle in an attempt to blow up the Albert Street army post in the Roman Catholic Lower Falls area of the city, police said.

A blast failed to ignite the gasoline, but a second explosion 10 minutes later set the driver's cab ablaze, the spokesman said. "If the contents (of the tank) had caught fire, it would have been disastrous," a security forces spokesman said.

A military spokesman in Belfast said the British army had no plans to increase security at its posts in Northern Ireland despite the bomb attack at Aldershot army post.

"Security is already on a war footing here," the spokesman said. "All the precautions we can take, we've taken already."

A spokesman for the paratroopers involved in the Jan. 30 "bloody Sunday" killings of 13 civilians in Londonderry said the Tuesday blast at Aldershot, Britain's largest army base, had caused the soldiers some concern for their families.

"They're a little concerned that this IRA (Irish Republican Army) threat that has been directed at them for so long here, might now be beginning to be aimed at their families at home," he said.

After bloody Sunday the IRA threatened to kill two British soldiers for every person who died at Londonderry.

In Dublin Tuesday the IRA claimed responsibility for the attack on the Aldershot officers' mess which killed a Roman Catholic British army chaplain, five waitresses and a civilian gardener.

It later said it "regretted" the death of the civilians and added "our target was the officers responsible for the Londonderry outrages," a reference to the Jan. 30 shootings.

Fighting broke out Tuesday in the predominantly Roman Catholic Ardoyne section of Belfast when troops moved in to arrest about 40 youths wearing black

IRA berets at the funeral of David McAuley, 14.

The soldiers began chasing the youths when several of them fired a volley of shots over the coffin of McAuley, a member of the junior IRA, who died in the Irish Republic of gunshot wounds.

Four GIs Wounded By Communist Mortars

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist mortars wounded four Americans at the Qui Nhon support command compound late Tuesday and two other Americans were injured in separate incidents in other areas of South Vietnam.

In the air war, U.S. officials reported six "protective reaction" strikes against Communist anti-aircraft positions in North Vietnam in the last two days but the results of the raids were not known.

Qui Nhon is on the central Vietnam coast 250 miles northeast of Saigon. Officials said the Communists attacked the base with seven 81mm mortar rounds.

Another American was wounded in a skirmish with guerrillas 25 miles northeast of Saigon, and a sixth GI was wounded by a booby trap on a patrol 20 miles west of Da Nang in the northern area of South Vietnam.

On the political front, Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi tried to return to South Vietnam from Washington after six years of exile but he was sent away without being allowed off the plane.

Thi headed an unsuccessful revolt against the late President Ngo Dinh Diem in 1960 and was exiled in 1966 for supporting a northern Buddhist revolt against then Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

Thi did not give his reason for wanting to return but unofficial reports in Saigon said President Nguyen Van Thieu is planning to reshuffle his cabinet after President Nixon returns from Peking.

UPI correspondent Stewart Kellerman reported from Da Nang that South Vietnamese troops said they killed 99 Communists in Que Son Valley, 20 miles south of Da Nang, in two days of fighting.

A government spokesman said South Vietnamese casualties included 11 wounded and six missing.

Kellerman said more than 3,000 government troops and militia, backed by U.S. and Vietnamese air support, are trying to break up a Communist operation which commands the coastal sections of three provinces from the area.

Meanwhile, in Paris the U.S. and South Vietnamese delegations today accepted a Communist proposal to hold the 145th Vietnam peace talks session Thursday.

The allied negotiators two weeks ago suspended the peace conference to protest the Feb. 11-13 world assembly for peace and independence of Indochina, a left-wing rally called in suburban Versailles to denounce U.S. policies and endorse the Communist Vietnamese stand.
